

MUSSOLINI MADE TARGET OF BOMB

Miss Tulsa Is Queen Of Beauty - Pictures "King"

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11.—Miss America ruled alone as queen of beauty today.

The throne, occupied by Norma Smallwood, the dark haired, 18-year-old girl from Tulsa, Okla., who was declared the most beautiful of the picked beauties of America in the Atlantic City contest, was unshared by a king, except an imaginary one.

What sort of man would suit the girl judged the fairest in America? A tall man from somewhere.

Miss America of 1926 was asked the question by the United Press today. She smiled—and it was her quick, spontaneous smile that won the hearts of many of the judges—and answered with engaging frankness of the modern girl:

"He must be tall," she said.

"I would like to have by my head reach hardly higher than the top button of his vest. I have pictured him many times. He is about five feet eleven inches tall.

He has a smooth clear complexion, brown hair like mine and parted just left of the center.

"Miss America" is slender, of medium height and extremely graceful. Her dark brown hair is unbobbed and is parted in the middle.

She is eighteen years old, five feet four inches high and weighs 119 pounds. Her eyes are blue. Her features may be called "classic" and she lacks the perth prettiness that distinguishes the flapper type. From her well-molded throat, which is twelve inches in circumference, her lines curve over a normal thirty-three inch bust. Her waist, unrestrained by corsets, is neither wasp-like or bulky. It measures twenty-four inches.

From her hips, which measure thirty-six inches, the figure tapers in a graceful line. Her slender thighs are nineteen, her calf thirteen and her graceful ankles eight. Her wrists are six inches.

THREE MIDDLEWEST SENATORS ARE ILL

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Three middlewestern senators are ill, one critically, and three senatorial candidates have been warned by physicians to slacken their pace in the interests of health.

Senator Thomas D. Schall, of Minnesota is suffering from appendicitis in a Minneapolis hospital. He may have to submit to an operation.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin is in Mayo Brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., having overtaxed himself in the Wisconsin primary campaign.

Physicians are in almost constant attendance at the bedside of Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois. He is in a sanitarium at Martinsville, Ind. It is feared he will not recover.

Col. Smith W. Brookhart, who is virtually certain of election to the senate from Iowa, is recovering at his home in Washington, Ia., following a physical collapse while on a campaign tour.

Both Col. Frank Smith, Republican, and George E. Brennan, Democrat, Illinois senatorial candidates are laid up. Smith is recovering from a gall bladder operation and Brennan from an injured knee.

PRINCE SPEAKS IN AMERICAN IDIOMS

LONDON, Sept. 11.—That the Prince of Wales' English has, occasionally, an American touch was the interesting observation made by his audience at Oxford—perhaps the most critical and cultivated audience in Great Britain.

For example the Prince chose the American pronunciation of "CAPitalist" instead of the prevailing English pronunciation of "CAPItalist." He wobbled a little on another word, first calling it, a la United States, "LABoratory" and then flopping over, later, to the English form of "LABORatory."

His Royal Highness likes the "t" in "often" and says "dis-rection" and "acoustics"—purely personal choices. He stressed the first syllable of "ILLustrate" and "pursuit" but in most respects he adhered to the forms generally favored by the bulk of his audience.

BLAME ROBBERY ON BOOTLEGGING GANG

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Need of funds to defend alcohol gang leaders now in jail, led members of the gang to stage a daring $135,000 mail train robbery yesterday, police believed today.

The robbery was the work of the Salts-McErlans gang, according to Deputy Detective Chief John Stages. Salts, former alcohol king, now held on the charge of murdering a rival bootlegger, "Mitters" Foley, is said to be almost penniless, while McErlane, who is to be tried soon at Valparaiso, Ind., for the murder of a lawyer there, is also believed to have squandered the large fortune he one time had.

VESTRYMAN ADMITS USING FLASHLIGHT FOLLOWING MURDER

Testimony Expected To Prove Key To Crime
Solution

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 11.—A flashlight, turned on the scene of the Hall-Mills murder under a crab apple tree on the Phillips farm near New Brunswick, was believed today to be the key to solution of the four year old mystery.

Ralph V. Gorsline, vestryman in the church of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, who was found murdered with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer, was reported to have admitted that he recognized at least one of the participants in the murder when he turned on his flashlight after hearing shots and screams in De Russey's lane.

Gorsline, after denying for four years that he was anywhere near the scene of the murder, weakened under a twenty-four hour "third degree" yesterday and admitted he was in his automobile in De Russey's lane that night with Miss Catherine Rastall, choir singer in the church.

FORMER XENIAN IS ACCUSED IN DAYTON

Fred McGee, 27, colored, former Xenian, is under arrest in Dayton charged with having stolen from The Braun Brothers Packing Co., Troy, a truck load of cured meat, pork chops and lard confiscated by Dayton police when McGee was arrested Friday.

McGee declared that he was en route to Wilberforce University where he was to have delivered the meat, which was confiscated from his truck on suspicion. Later the meat was identified by Walter Braun of the Braun Brothers Packing Co. Dayton police say that McGee has been making regular trips through Dayton with pilfered goods.

President Gilbert Jones of Wilberforce University told Chief of Police M. E. Graham that McGee had at one time been a student at Wilberforce but that he was not employed by the school, and he knew nothing concerning him now. McGee's family formerly lived near Wilberforce, but moved to Miami County.

BALDWIN STIRS UP STRIKE WITH STRAW

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Straw hats are almost obsolete in England, but they have just received a last-minute revival through the appearance on the streets of Prime Minister Baldwin topped with a "boater," as the straw hats are called in England. The Premier's political audacity in sponsoring a form of headgear which has almost passed out of the book of styles has caused much comment.

While straw hats are in disfavor however, the "topper" is enjoying a boom. Not since the beginning of the war have so many shiny tall hats and collapsible opera-hats been seen in London. The manufacturers are busy, not only meeting the demand of the male dressers but also satisfying a new fashion in women's millinery, which suggests that a crown of the same material of which "toppers" are made will supersede the interminable felts this winter.

HENS TURNED INTO ROOSTERS BY KNIFE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 11.—How hens can be turned into roosters and male guinea pigs into hermaphrodites was demonstrated at the World Congress of physiologists, just closed here, by two French scientists, Professors Cardroit and Pezard who spoke before an assembly of colleagues in the Stockholm city hall.

After a certain operation the hens begin by laying eggs and begin to crow. By other experiments the two scholars had transformed hens into a mixture of half hen and half rooster, so that certain feathers were half those of one sex and half of the other. Among birds the male tendency predominates, the two lecturers said, while among mammals, the female qualities are the stronger.

POLICE FOLLOW FALSE TIP IN EFFORT TO ARREST M'DERMOTT

Detectives Continue Search For New Evidence While
Leaders Mark Time—Rudner Arraignments
Await Mazer

CANTON, O., Sept. 11.—Canton underworld and the little group of men engaged in robbing the mail, but no trace of McDermott was found. The next event in the Mellett-underworld-police investigation will be the report of the civil service commission on charges of inefficiency against Police Chief Serranus Lengel. The ouster charges are expected to be upheld. The report will be announced Monday.

Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner who with Patrick E. McDermott are charged with the murder of Mellett will not be arraigned until Mazer who is under a liquor law indictment in Cleveland is turned over to Stark County officials. Prosecutor C. B. McClintock said today that Rudner would not be arraigned until Mazer is turned over to local authorities.

Acting Police Chief John H. Wise today sent several policemen to a brick yard near here following a tip that McDermott, the missing "keyman" was hiding there. A suspicious appearing person was found and later released but no trace of McDermott was found.

GOVERNMENT'S STAR WITNESS MAY ALSO HELP DEFENDANTS

German Proves Neutrality On Stand—Cross Examination Shows Large Part of Stock Owned Outside Germany

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The ultimate position of Richard Merton of Frankfurt, Germany, in the government's case against Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, was one for conjecture today while the trial of the former attorney general and the former alien property custodian stood in adjournment until Monday.

Merton, one of Germany's wealthiest men, was called as the government's star witness. But because of his apparent neutrality on the witness stand it became evident that Merton finally may prove as important a witness for the defense as for the government.

Although the defense cross examination had only started when court adjourned yesterday Merton revealed an intricate story of the internal organization of the German and Swiss companies he represents and brought out large stock ownerships in them rest in British and Swiss as well as German hands.

In these facts lies an effort of the defense to show that perhaps the government made a mistake

ONE DEAD, TWO NEAR DEATH AFTER FIGHT

LORAIN, O., Sept. 11.—One man is dead and two men are dying in the hospital here as the result of cutting scrapes last night.

Stanley Rockish, boarding house proprietor, was stabbed to death in a fight with L. L. Ralich. The latter was arrested this morning as he attempted to leave town. He claims Rockish attacked him and that he knifed the boarding house keeper in self defense.

Because Walter Konolovich refused to give him a cigarette, August Komera attacked him with a knife. The victim is in the hospital with wounds in the back, chest, arm and leg. Komera is in city jail charged with cutting to kill.

PREMIER UNHURT AS MISSILE HITS CAR; ASSAILANT CAUGHT

Two Other Bombs And Pistol Found—Crowd
Cheers Il Duce

ROME, Sept. 11.—Premier Benito Mussolini's charmed life again has been spared—this time from a bomb thrown at him today by a young Italian anarchist.

Mussolini escaped unharm-ed, but four passersby were severely injured.

The assailant, Ermete Gionvanni, the stone cutter, was arrested and when searched two other bombs and a pistol were found in his pockets.

Mussolini, unmoved by the attack, calmly ordered his chauffeur to drive him to the foreign office, while crowds gathered and wildly cheered "Il Duce."

The United Press correspondent was standing in front of the public works building waiting for a trolley car, when he saw the premier's automobile driving at a rapid rate toward the building along the Montemarta.

Just as the machine reached the porta pia a youth standing on the opposite side of the street near Newspaper Kiosks, threw a bomb toward the premier's car.

The bomb struck glancingly on the top of the limousine, then falling to the street where it went skating along the pavement.

Almost immediately there was a loud detonation.

The United Press correspondent saw the premier lean forward and direct the chauffeur to speed up the car. The big limousine immediately shot forward at tremendous speed.

A police car followed.

Detectives leaped out, running after the youth who had thrown the bomb.

The correspondent saw the lad reach into his pocket and draw forth another bomb.

He threw it aimlessly, but it failed to explode.

The police closed in and captured him.

Cries of terror from women and children on the street broke out.

The correspondent saw a street sweeper and a newsboy fall, wounded.

Crowds gathered around them offering aid and the injured were carried to the nearby Policlinic Hospital.

Minister Giuriati addressed the crowd, rejoicing that the premier once more was safe "for the greatness of Italy" and scathingly denouncing the attempt as due to the machinations of Italy's foes.

When Mussolini reached the fore-dock office the immense crowd began to gather there and soon was cheering "Il Duce" wildly.

Flowers began pouring in from Mussolini's friends and soon the entire interior of his private office was practically filled with blossoms.

Later reports indicated that the four persons injured by the bomb might have been more seriously offering aid and the injured were carried to the nearby Policlinic Hospital.

Police also announced that a thorough search revealed the assailant of the premier was carrying a revolver as well as two bombs in addition to the one he threw.

Monsignor Pizzardo communicated news of the attack to the pope who stood with bowed head for a moment, evidently thanking God that Mussolini's life had been spared.

"The Almighty does not want well meaning men to die before their work is accomplished," the pope was reported to have said.

Today's attack on Mussolini was the fifth instance of actual violence against Mussolini since he became premier, while a sixth would have been recorded, would a plot against him a year ago, been successful.

In all of the attempts and the one major plot, however, only the demented British subject, the Honorable Violet Gibson has been able to break sufficiently through the charm which may believe surrounds the life of Mussolini, to inflict actual injury upon him.

Of all the attempts, the plot which was frustrated before a blow was struck, was probably the most dangerous from a political standpoint. It was planned for Nov. 5, 1925 when Mussolini was to have been shot while addressing a throng at the Chigi palace.

The good fortune which protects Mussolini intervened. Tito Zan-boni, an expert marksman, who was to have done the shooting, had confided his plan to a Catholic layman who, though no friend of Mussolini, found the burden of the secret too great and finally gave warning of the plot.

COMPARATIVE ENFORCEMENT

Almost every day we read somebody's comparison between law enforcement in England and in America. First and last, every phase of the subject is gone into from the technical to the impressions of the "man on the street." There is but one side to the argument. England does have her laws better enforced than we do in America. England has a better judicial system than ours. English courts will have disposed of a murder case, inflicted capital punishment and closed the incident in a most matter-of-fact way in the length of time it takes us to get the case to where the expert testimony is being selected and duly announced prior to the first postponement.

But there is more to it than that. The public opinion of the two countries has to be taken into account. Our public tolerates lack of law enforcement and a goodly portion encourages it. It might be found handy some day. The English public will have none of it. A lawyer who would violate their legal code of ethics would be treated much as we tried to treat Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, only he escaped. The public mind over there runs to abstract justice. A murderer is a man who commits a murder and never, by any professional hokus pokus is he transformed into a hero. He is hanged, unless he can show sufficient extenuation to be given the mercy of a life sentence. And none of the legal fraternity would dare to take the steps to prevent one of the other that are daily taken in this country, and the reason they do not is public opinion.

We will get to it some day. We have not as yet grown out of the feeling that it is "smart" to outwit the law. So long as we think that way, there will be "outwitters" for hire. Every demand furnishes something of a supply. That is an ancient law.

EUROPEAN DIPLOMACY

European diplomacy has America's diplomacy lashed to the mast. The United States proposed to join the world court on certain conditions, chief of which is that the court cannot act on any question in which the United States claims to have an interest, except with the United States' consent.

It was a pretty important qualification. Few in Washington believed the world court powers would consider it. Now it appears that maybe they will—on conditions of their own.

Their conditions? Oh, war debt revision, and a reduction in tariffs, to let foreign products into the United States, and possibly a modification of American immigration restriction—a few things like that. They are not definitely proposed yet, but they are hinted at.

Hitherto, since the war, the European powers have been on the outside, looking into the United States and asking for things. Now the United States is on the outside of the world court, looking in, and asking what the price of admission is. Indications are that it will stay on the outside.

ENGLAND RESORTS TO ADVERTISING

Stealing a suggestion from America conservative, old England is awakening to the value of advertising her attractions. She has organized a "Come to Britain" campaign which is putting out highly colored and ingeniously worded advertising matter. The purpose of all this is to lure the American tourist, and get the tourist's dollar.

It hurts the British pride to see the Americans spending $250,000,000 in France and only $100,000,000 in England Italy and other European countries combined. They are not particularly concerned about the other countries, but they do want more of the tourists to visit England. And if the deluxe pamphlets will do it, she is going to give the rest of Europe a run for America's dollars.

WORKING FOR THE PUBLIC

The public should pay more to get more in public service. It should pay more in honors, or in money, or both.

This fact is again brought to mind by the case of Frank Farrington, for many years an official of the miners' union who just now has turned to private employment with a big coal company.

The miners union paid Farrington $5,000 a year and is probably developed factions hostile to him and made a fight on him at the elections when his candidacy for the job came up, and filed "charges" against him from time to time. The coal company to which he has gone will pay him $25,000 a year and give him full co-operation and expect to make money off him.

It's a contrast the argument of which, applied to public service in general, causes wonder that the public gets as good service as it does.

The man keeps himself reduced trying to earn enough money for his wife to pay for some reducing method.

FORMER XENIAN IS KILLED IN WEST

Death broke a silence of fourteen years, when Mrs. Emma Stephens, 107 Dayton Ave., received a telegram Friday night announcing the accidental death of her brother, John E. Jenkins, 68, in Minneapolis, Minn.

Telephone communication established later by the family gave the news that his death was caused by an elevator accident.

Mr. Jenkins had been a wanderer all his life. Fourteen years ago he visited Mrs. Stephens in this city, and when he left told her that he would write to her. She never received a letter from him afterward, and the family reached the conclusion that he had died. The telegram announcing his death was the first news of him during that time. Mr. Jenkins was born near Cincinnati, and was unmarried. He had never lived in Xenia. Besides Mrs. Stephens he is survived by another sister, Mrs. Addie Jenkins of Los Angeles. The body will be shipped to Xenia for burial, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

TEMPTING PICKLES

Sweet Green Tomato Pickle: Cut one-half peck of green tomatoes in thin slices and scald in a solution of weak salt water. Drain well, place in a preserving kettle, add one-half pint of cider vinegar, two pounds of granulated sugar, one-half ounce of white mustard seed, one tablespoon of ground cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of ground allspice, and one tablespoon of salt. Bring to the boil and simmer till the tomatoes are transparent (about two hours). Then turn at once into hot, sterilized glass jars and seal airtight.

Spiced Cranberries: Into a preserving kettle put five pounds of cranberries, three and one-half pounds of brown sugar, two cups of vinegar, two tablespoons of ground cinnamon, one tablespoon of ground allspice, and one tablespoon of ground cloves; simmer this mixture for two hours, then turn while still hot into hot jars which have been "sterilized" by being boiled, empty, for fifteen minutes in water to cover. Keep the drained jars hot, till filled with the pickle, by wrapping in towels wrung from hot water. A hot pickle put into a cold jar may crack the jar.

Spiced Watermelon Rind: To one pound of prepared rind, allow one pound of granulated sugar, one cup of water, one-half cup of mixed whole spices (cloves, allspice, stick cinnamon and whole cloves) and two lemons cut in strips, seeds discarded. To prepare the rind, pare off the green outer layer; also discard the soft center part. Have the melon ripe. Make a syrup by boiling the sugar with the water for five minutes, then to it add the watermelon rind, lemon and spices and cook till the rind is tender. Fill at once into hot, sterilized glass jars and seal airtight. Many people like a ginger flavor as well as the lemon flavor. To obtain this add a little ginger root to the boiling syrup, and discard it, with the bag of spices, before canning the mixture. This is a most delicious sweet-meat to serve with a guest supper. Such little side dishes "dress up" a table wonderfully.

LIGHT AIRPLANES ENTERED IN LONG FLYING CONTEST

LYMPNE AERODROME, Hythe, Kent, England, Sept. 11.—The world's greatest light aeroplane competition for cash prizes totaling $25,000 will open here tomorrow. It is one of the most exciting light plane competitions in that the winner of the first cash prize of $15,000 will be required to maintain a sustained performance of daily flying—rain or shine—for

A friend of mine took me to his country home last night. I slept in a house over 150 years old. My friend took me into one of the rooms and there played to me an expert manner on the walls of that room as the tones of an old violin rebound in seasoned wood.

But the entire visit seemed to center about the aroma of the country itself. The giant trees so old, the meadow with its musical water falls, the little lake on the turn of the road in front of the house, the rolling acres that spread out from the small, white house that stood high on a hill.

It was raining when we arrived. The sun was not out. The lights of our car opened the way like a snow plow, brushing aside the darkness, as it does the deep snow of winter.

Everything was so quiet and peaceful, but it wasn't lonely. You don't get lonely when you are in communion with a person or with silent nature.

In the morning, the sky had cleared and the sun streamed into the windows and swept the wet grass of the fields and gave a silvery glint to all nature. We breakfasted and then walked out between now and next Friday, every other day over a different course, ranging from 212 to 373 miles in length for a total distance of approximately 2,000 miles.

The same aeroplane and engine must be used throughout the competition, but certain minor repairs will be permitted the contestants without disqualification.

The first prize will go to the light plane that during the six days of the competition carries the greatest useful load per unit of fuel consumed. All machines however will be required to maintain an average speed of at least fifty miles an hour and each will be required to carry a load including pilot and passenger of not less than 340 pounds.

In addition prior to actual participation in flights the owner of each machine was required to give a demonstration of the practicability of the machine from the point of view of private ownership. This involved the dismantling of the machine, housing it in a shed not more than ten feet wide and ten feet high, its removal from the shed and reassembly in a time for the whole process not to exceed an hour.

The competition marks a new departure in defining the limits of light aeroplane construction in terms of engine weight instead of engine horsepower. Heretofore it has been customary to define a light aeroplane as an aeroplane with an engine of not more than 1,000 cubic centimeters cylinder capacity which developed approximately 20 horsepower. In the present competition, the only limit on the engines is their weight, which is specified shall not exceed 170 pounds.

Great strides have been made in the past year in the construction of light engines and the promoters of the competition expect that before its close several new world records for light aeroplane performance will have been established.

The money for prizes is being put up by The Daily Mail of London with a view to the ultimate development of a light airplane that is safe, economical, that can be housed in a small space and that can readily be handled on the ground by one or at the most, two men.

POWDER MILL EXPLOSION

Notwithstanding the care taken, the history of all power works is marked by explosions of greater or less frequency.

One of the heaviest of these occurred on the morning of March 1, 1886 at the Miami Powder Co. plant at Goes, not extinct. Several had taken place at the same plant in the interval of years.

A large dry house containing 50,000 pounds of powder at this time exploded, from some undiscussed cause.

It was completely demolished; the fields about were strewn with debris, none of it larger than a man's hand. A car to which a horse had been harnessed could not be found; one of the large wheels was thrown to the other side of the Little Miami River, 500 yards distant. Of three men at work there, the largest part found was a piece of backbone; other fragments being scattered necessitating the gathering up of the remains in bags and baskets. Part of an arm with other debris, was found at Old Town, two miles away. Houses were damaged and debris scattered for miles away.

Scenes among families of the employees who flocked to the ruins were heartrending. As husbands, fathers and brothers came out uninjured, their families gathered about them and wept tears of joy. But three were killed.

Every building at Xenia was shaken and many windows broken. People rushed out of their houses into the street fearing that the buildings were about to fall, while north of the city could be seen an immense white cloud of smoke hanging over the scene of devastation. The cloud was photographed from Xenia.

Reports of the explosion were heard 100 miles distant. A house was completely demolished and the covered bridge on the Yellow Springs turnpike, half a mile away, was blown in. A number of people in the vicinity were so frightened by the shock they were confined to their beds for several days thereafter.

Just Folks

A MOTHER'S COUNSEL
"There is sin in the world," said the mother wise,

"But be you brave and true
And never the joy shall quit your eyes
Or the sin bring hurt to you.

"There are those in the world
Who would betray,
But be you not afraid,
If you hearken not to what tempters say
You shall never be betrayed.

"This life knows much that is red with shame,
But, daughter of mine, be true
And the words which poison a woman's fame
Shall never be said of you.

"For you may walk where the sinners are
If your heart be pure within,
And whether the road be short or far
You shall never be touched by sin."

East Side - West Side

—OF—

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Faithful effort was rewarded down in the Stock Exchange the other day, when two former office boys were taken into the firm of Block, Maloney & Co. Frank Grattan and William B. Giles have ceased carrying messages and tending the quotation board (they started back in 1905) and are now partners in high finance. They've climbed well and high—yet their ascent parallels many others in the Street, where former boys who left the plow are herding bulls and bears to their great financial benefit.

In New York only one marriage in twenty-three ends in the divorce court. Thus America's poor little old Sin Center turns out to be a righteous community after all—the least divorced city in the country.

Walk along Avenue A or the Bowers, or take a turn through swarming Carmine Street and you'll see why. These bearded Jews, these ruddy Irish, these black Italians—they stay married. They are workers, breeders, and their homes are maintained intact. They have neither time nor inclination to break up house-keeping.

James Bone, brother of Muirhead Bone, the celebrated English etcher, exercising the Englishman's time honored right to write to the "Times," describes New York as "a city of dreadful

Rather an apt description of our skyscrapers, what? Brander Matthews, the grand old man of letters, received a cordial invitation from his friend, Rudyard Kipling, to visit England. "England hasn't changed much since you were here," wrote the author of Gunga Din, etcetra, "despite the march of civilization and other obscene trifles."

The great Barnum certainly understated the fact when he said, "There's a sucker born every minute." Here in New York where smart guys are supposed to grow on bushes suckers are thicker than puree of pea soup. The best evidence of the truth of this statement is to be found on the 1,200 newstands which decorate the city's street corners.

These stands are the race track tipsters' show cases. Hanging all over them are tips on horses running in New Orleans, Havana, Tia Juana or where are you. And every day between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. more than a hundred thousand suckers walk up to the counter and lay down from 25c to $100 for "feedback information." They do not stop to figure that if the dispensers of this inside news really had the real dope they'd be awful suckers not to go bet on what they "know" and break every bookmaker from Tom Shaw down to the 10c bets from the newsboys on Park Row.

The Theatre

There's many an interesting sidelight on the story of the stars who "come back." After battling for public favor, many stars are known to have left the silver sheet for indefinite periods and returned, victorious! And, often, the "come back" is due to a metamorphosis—a change of character and type, more experience in the ways of the world and its fancies.

This valiant group includes Alice Joyce, Blanche Sweet, Charles Ray, May Allison, Francis X. Bushman, Marc McDermott, Myrtle Stedman, Eugene O'Brien, Earle Williams, James Cruze, Hooton Brenon and Sidney Olcott. All of them had known fame and popularity. Each of them learned what it meant to lose it. Today, they have come back and their names are more significant than ever before.

Then there's Theda Bara, the woman with the royal purple past. She is now playing in two-reel comedies. She is one of the many who have tried to "come back" and failed. This list includes: Beverly Bayne, Bushman's wife, Clara Kimball Young, William Farnum, Elsie Ferguson, Madge Kennedy (who gained on the stage what she lost in the films) Wanda Hawley, Mable Normand, Mary Miles Minter, Ethel Clayton, Katherine McDonald, Anita Stewart.

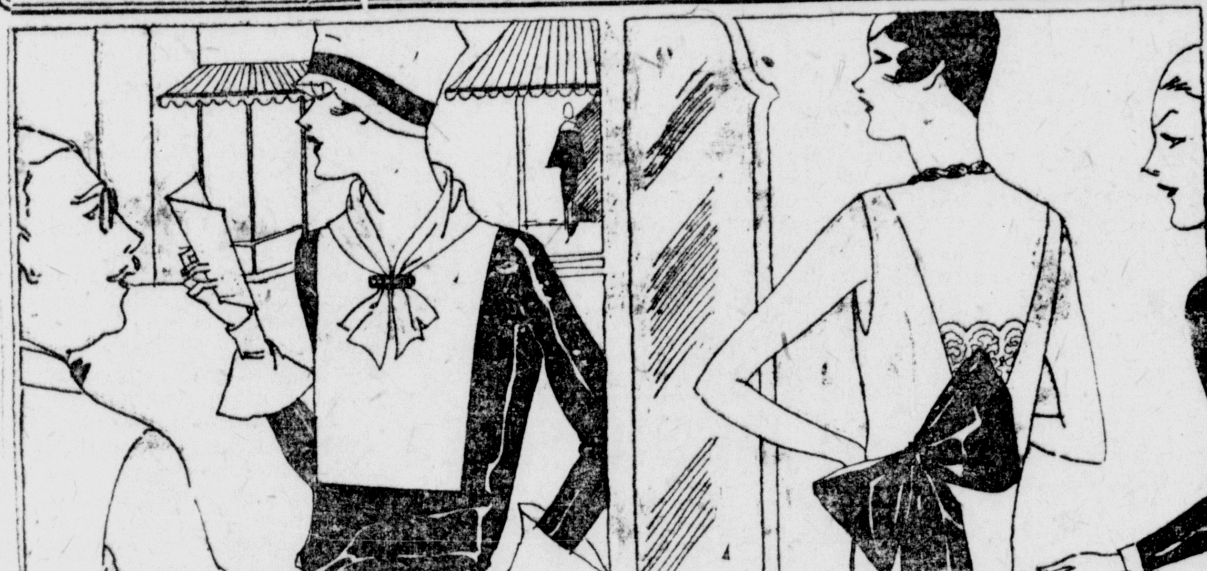

Their pedestals positions, when reached, were found to be insecure and bound to totter sooner or later. They all tumbled but a few wise ones picked the right path up again. Alice Joyce returned victorious with maturity and sweet womanliness, Blanche Sweet forsook the sweet wistful characterizations, and won her rightful place as a real actress in "Annie Christie." May Allison held her youthful beauty and vivacity and finds herself a successful, accomplished woman.

"Glorifying the American Girl" the Florenz Ziegfeld film, is off for the present. It cost Famous Players-Lasky just $205,000 before a crank was turned on the cameras and the company decided that enough was enough and refused to plunge deeper in the production. In spite of the fact that the picture may never reach the screen, Ziegfeld has received $150,000 for his part in the undertaking. Ziegfeld's contract with Famous Players-Lasky must have been a masterpiece. It was one of those one-way contracts with everything going to Ziegfeld. For instance, it stipulated that $186,000 in costumes were to be used in the picture. Ziegfeld was to direct the spending of $106,000 of this sum; the others were to be made in the studio. And at the completion of the picture, Ziegfeld was to receive the costumes for use in his next "Follies." Josef Urban, who designs the Ziegfeld settings, received a retainer of $25,000 for preliminary work on the sets and $7,500 was paid for the scenario.

Modish Mitzi MITZI CHANGES HER MIND AND HER COSTUME FREQUENTLY Jay V. Jay

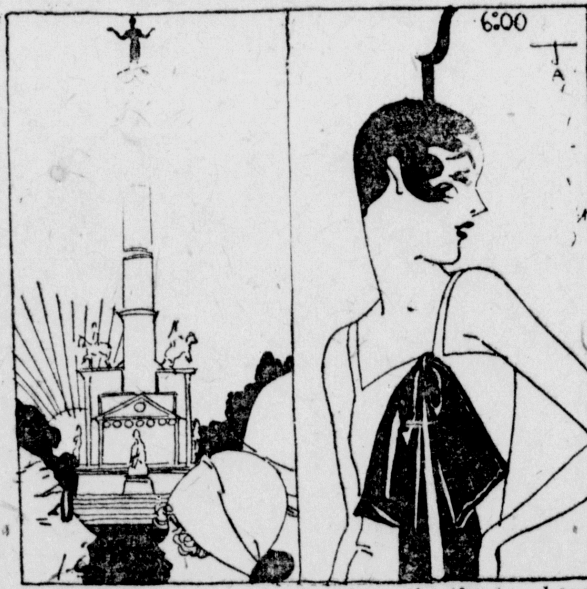

Dad said that if Mitzi wasn't ready in five minutes he'd phone her and find out the reason why. Well, judging from the agitation of the phone he is doing the first and not finding out the second. Mitzi thinks she would save more time changing her pleated georgette with the scarf collar—and not answering it.

Mitzi exercises it—beyond the limit. At least, that is what Dad thinks when he sees her appear finally in a crepe costume with metal embroidery on the collar, cuffs and vest. "Yes," she says, "I couldn't decide what to wear so I changed my dress three times."

There's something very insistent, very impatient, almost angry in the tone of a phone bell after it has been ringing five minutes. (Dad feels just about like the phone sounds, too). For no reason at all Mitzi decides that this claret color crepe (Chanel red in other words) frock with the jabot drape on the blouse is more suitable.

Dad has been waiting impatiently to show her around Des Moines. Mitzi," he remonstrates, "you are so late, that we'll have no more time to see anything but the State Capitol. Time and tide wait for no woman," sighs Dad, "only mortal man is dumb enough to do it." He can't help but cast an admiring glance at Mitzi's hat, but the effect is, well, enough for any man to wait for. Tomorrow—Velvet Trims the Evening Gown

POCKETBOOKS WERE NEVER SO BEAUTIFUL

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Some women are spending so much on the new handbags and pocketbooks that they have little money left for other accessories. And who can blame them?

Pocketbooks have never been so beautiful as they are this season and each costume must have its own harmoniously matched bag to be considered smart. Shapes of handbags vary from large or medium-sized envelopes to flat pouches. Bags with long strap handles are not as new or smart as those with short straps or disappearing ones. On many of the pouch bags we find the short strap handle which can be slipped down into the bag when one wishes the handle-less model.

Lizard and reptile skins of all sorts, calf's leather, suede, velvet, and even ostrich hide is used in the making of the modern handbag. Black suede is particularly in vogue this year and it is astonishing how many black bags are being sold. Chanel red, jungle green, tan and brown are other good bag colors which come in both suede and glazed leather styles. The large square envelope of suede with the flap outlined in tiny gilt clasps is new and smart. Some smaller envelope shapes are made exactly like envelopes being stitched to represent an envelope. Velvet bags appeal to those who plan on wearing velvet costumes. Pouch shapes in velvet are not so good this year. The velvet bag may be trimmed in gilt or silver pipings and adorned with a gold metal clasp set with brilliants or with a cut steel clasp. Dull costume shades are those best liked for velvet models. A handsome dressy bag is made entirely of gilt leather in envelope shape. Stenciled effects on unadorned leathers are among the novelties with plaid, dotted or monogrammed designs on dull backgrounds.

GREENE COUNTY NORMAL OPENS WITH LARGEST ENROLLMENT

The Greene County Normal School at Cedarville College, now three years old, has the largest enrollment in its history, thirty students, including four young men, having entered for the fall semester, according to County Superintendent H. C. Aultman.

Miss Edna Howard, new director of the normal school, has a staff of five composed of M. L. Frazer, Harley E. Smith, Mrs. Marion L. Borst, Mrs. Walter Corry and Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College. Superintendent Aultman will also devote some time to teaching in the normal school.

Included in the enrollment this year are students from Fayette, Madison and Warren Counties, as well as Greene, showing the school's work and influence is broadening. Among the students are several teachers who have been engaged in the work for some time, and have stopped for the year in order to take the normal work. At least one year's normal training course is now required by law of an applicant for a teaching position.

SUCCESS OF OLD SCOUTS DRIVE INSURES CABIN FOR BOY SCOUTS

Xenia Boy Scouts are assured of their cabin in Shawnee Park.

This was the announcement made Saturday morning when success of the campaign for membership in the "Xenia Old Scouts Association" was certain.

Three hundred and seventy persons of both sexes joined the Old Scout Association and gave a total subscription of $540 Thursday and Friday when members of the two local troops of Boy Scouts met to plan for the new building.

The boys could not see every body in two days, and any future memberships will be taken by R. H. Kingsbury, deputy scout commissioner. The yearly membership fee in the Old Scout Association is one dollar, but any subscription above that amount will be received. Many persons made their subscriptions greater than the one dollar fee.

Ground has been donated for the cabin in the northeast corner of Shawnee Park, and a member of the committee of the Old Scouts said Saturday that it is expected to commence work immediately on the structure, which will be of shingle exterior and ample for the present needs. It will be a two room cabin with a ten foot fire place at one end, around which the youthful scouts plan glorious times to ride the crisp fall and winter days coming. The cabin will be so constructed that additional rooms may be added later. It will and it is believed that eventually each teacher will be required to have two years normal work before being given a position.

The following is a portion of a letter regarding the normal school sent out by Miss Howard, the director and County Superintendent Aultman to prospective students and teachers:

"We want to call your attention to the consolidation of the several county normal teacher training schools at Cedarville. This is under the direction of the state department of education and offers the following:

Free tuition; thirty six weeks and thirty two semester hours of training accepted in any of our state normal colleges; a faculty of five or six professors instead of one as before; physical education in a large gymnasium, dramatics and oratory under skilled directors, religious and ethical training under Professor McChesney; the benefits of college atmosphere and refinements accumulated for thirty years and an excellent opportunity to be placed in a good paying position next May or June."

DOG KILLED AFTER BITING THREE ON STREET SATURDAY

A Beagle hound bearing a license that had been issued in Darke County, was shot by Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin after it had bitten two children.

A man another dog and attempted to bite a colored woman, on E. Main St. in front of the L. E. John billiard hall shortly before noon Saturday.

A brother and sister, aged 10 and 12 years, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Osborn, of the Columbus Pike, were slightly bitten on the legs by the animal, and their uncle, Elmer Trubee, N. West St., was scratched on the arm by the animal's teeth when he seized the dog while it was snapping among the Saturday noonday crowd on the street.

The dog was confined in a box in the alley at the rear of the pool room after Mr. Trubee grabbed it. Later it was killed and its head will be sent to Columbus by Dr. W. C. Zell, for examination of the brain in the state laboratories for the purpose of determining whether or not the animal is a victim of rabies.

Dr. C. G. McPherson, who cauterized the wounds of Trubee and the two children, believes that the dog is the same animal that bit a three year old girl named Caney on E. Third St., a few days ago. The dog killed Saturday answers the description of that animal.

A bulldog belonging to William Fox, S. Detroit St., was also bitten by the supposed mad dog Saturday morning and it was at once taken to a veterinarian for Pasteur treatment by its owner. The dog will be confined.

Dr. W. C. Zell, veterinarian, believes that the dog was the victim of rabies. "He has handled a number of cases during the last few months in which the analysis showed positive case of rabies," he says.

WILL MAKE TOUR

Dr. W. C. Zell, veterinary surgeon will accompany Ira Jackson, Tippecanoe, king of Duroc swine breeders in America, on a trip by motor, through the west and north west, starting Sunday morning, during which they will visit livestock shows and some of the big breeding farms.

They will go from Chicago, their first stop at Peoria, Ill., to attend the National Swine and Livestock Show, and afterward will visit Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Sioux City and other places.

WOMAN CONQUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in right now and in the papers," Mrs. Jack Lorberter of 704 Dellwood Place wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company. "If you women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results. In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, 'I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight, I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me.' One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. 'I bought the Vegetable Compound,' Mrs. Lorberter continued, 'and have had fine results. The condition I was in made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask how is housekeeping?' and he says, 'It is just like being in Heaven!'"

WHIPPET TYPE OF AUTO COMING INTO QUICK POPULARITY

Following the announcement of the European type light car, the Whippet, made a few weeks ago by Willys-Overland, Inc., another large manufacturer has presented a remodeled type of four-cylinder car in the light car field and other announcements are expected to follow.

It is stated on the automobile trade circles that the Whippet type of light motor car is the forerunner of a general trend in this direction by a number of manufacturers but it is expected that the Whippet will remain the only truly European type light car built in this country for some time to come.

That a tendency on the part of other manufacturers to lighten the weight of their cars will be evidenced in the new production seem inevitable to the better informed in the industry, but it is generally conceded that it will be some time before the other engineering departments will be in a position to thoroughly Europeanize their products.

In the meantime the usual discussions regarding a product as revolutionary as the Whippet in its field, may be expected.

Reports from Willys-Overland show that better than 15,000 of the Whippet models are already in use and that these cars are exceeding all expectations of the manufacturing company in the performance records they are establishing for owners throughout the country.

A statement from the sales department of Willys-Overland, made in anticipation of the arguments of manufacturers concerning the use of European principles of design says, "The Whippet is an Americanized version of the European type of light car which has been conceded first place in mechanical efficiency for the past several years. The Greene County Hardware Co., sells Whippets here.

BEAUTIFUL JEWETT LINE PRESENTED TO PUBLIC SATURDAY

A completely changed line of Jewetts, with beauty as their dominant characteristic, is presented today by the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, which describes them as "the second most beautiful car in America"—thus adapting the well-known Paige slogan to the smaller car as well.

Emphasis is laid upon good looks in every item of the new Jewett's ensemble. Each model carries color, trim, finish and appointments that formerly would have rated it as "the Jewel" and the makers announce that they will no longer build both "standard" and "special" models of identical body types, all models now carrying full de luxe features.

A four-door sedan, a type not previously included in the line, has been added, and is regarded as the leader. The popular brougham is, of course, continued, but with changes that clearly set it apart from the former model.

Both the brougham and the four door sedan are unusually graceful, the straight line effect of the preceding models having been eliminated entirely. The new bodies were designed expressly to achieve beauty and to be fully up to the standards that have always been attained by the costlier Paige cars in this respect. The Jewetts are chiefly striking for the consistent use of the curved line of beauty. Ball corners, rounded edges, sweeping roof and visor lines, better stream lining, and curved window outlines, in combination with lower running boards, graceful fenders and larger tires, having revolutionized the Jewett.

The new line also reveals several important mechanical improvements, chief of which is the increase in size and power of the engine and the adoption of the air cleaner as standard equipment.

Xenia Paige-Jewett Co., is local agent.

MISUSE OF LICENSE TAGS TO BE CHECKED BELDEN ANNOUNCES

It has been very noticeable that some motorists are getting careless with license tags and it has been brought to the attention of Oliver Belden, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles of Greene County that quite a few motorists are operating under one license tag. It is essential that two license plates appear, one on the front and one on the rear of every motor vehicle which is operating under Ohio license.

This is caused sometimes by a lost tag, and some times the motorists are trying to operate two vehicles under one set of tags. Belden says he has names of a few motorists who operate contrary to the law and is in hope they will make the necessary change, without having an officer call and probably make an arrest.

It has also been noticed that some motor vehicles are still bearing plates on passenger cars which are considered trucks or commercial cars. This is also a violation of the law as these cars should bear either P. C. tags or truck tags.

Some motorists have gotten the impression that tags are transferable from one party to another. This will also be investigated. The Greene County Automobile Club is sending out this warning to eliminate any arrest which might follow.

DODGE BUILDS NEAR TWO MILLION AUTOS SINCE INITIAL CAR

Dodge Brothers Motor Car No. 1,750,000 rolled from the assembly lines Monday, August 23, at three o'clock p. m., just eleven years, nine months and nine days after the first Dodge Brothers car was completed. During this period the plant at Detroit has expanded from a scant thirty acres of floor space to over 130 acres to which additions are constantly being made to care for increased demand.

Car No. 1,750,000, an all steel Special Sedan is the crowning achievement of nearly twelve years devoted to the constant improvement and refinement of a sound basic design. The dates when Dodge Brothers output passed important production figures show clearly the continuously accelerated demand for this product. The first car was completed November 14, 1914. Two years, lacking nineteen days, were required to build the first 100,000.

Car No. 500,000 was completed June 30, 1920; Car No. 750,000, July 21, 1922 and Car 1,000,000 on December 12, 1923. One million cars had been produced at the end of nine years and one month.

KLAN WILL GATHER AT WASHINGTON IN NATIONAL MEETING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The klans of the Ku Klux Klan are advancing on the national capital for their greatest meeting of the year, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 13, 14 and 15.

By motor and train, the members of the order are converging from many states, estimates of the probable attendance ranging from 5,000 to 100,000. The occasion is the third biannual "klonvocation" of the order, and the meeting, to which state and national klans leaders have been invited, is announced as "purely of business nature."

Many thousands of klansmen, however, will attend unofficially, and a parade will be staged, which may reach the tremendous proportions of one held here at last years huge regional klans meeting here.

One of the principal items of business to be transacted is the selection of an Imperial Wizard as world leader of the order. Hiram Wesley Evans, who has held this position several years has been recommended for re-election by a recent Chicago meeting of Imperial Officer, Grand Dragons and other klans officers, and he probably will be named for the position without much opposition.

It was first planned to hold this meeting at Philadelphia, in the course of a klans demonstration as a part of the Independence Sesquicentennial celebration, but Philadelphia authorities were inhospitable to the plans for a huge national meeting in connection with the "klonvocation."

Extra police will be placed on duty, it is expected for the period of the celebration and for the parade. The parade permit allows the klansmen to parade in uniforms, except that all of the visors must be lifted to show the klansmen's faces.

CHEVROLET ADDS TO FACILITIES; WILL INCREASE OUTPUT

Preparing facilities for manufacturing 1,000 more cars per day in 1927, the Chevrolet Motor Company is proceeding rapidly with additions to its plants and equipment in the United States.

These additions are being made under the $10,000,000 expansion program announced recently by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the company.

The addition to the huge motor plant at Flint is now well under way. New machinery for making cylinders, cam shafts and small parts is arriving daily and extensive enlargements are being made at the Flint sheet metal division. A building 206 feet long by 134 feet wide is under construction to increase production at the Toledo transmission plant. Enlargement of the heat treat department of the Bay City small parts plant will provide additional facilities there.

In Detroit the building known as General Motors Truck Company plant No. 7 has been purchased for manufacturing axles and small parts and will be merged with the gear and axle plant.

New buildings and the erection of thirty-seven forging hammers at the Detroit forge plant will make this plant one of the largest forging centers in the United States.

Chevrolet factories at Cincinnati, Janesville and St. Louis will be extensively enlarged under the program. Fisher body plants at these cities are to be augmented, providing manufacturing facilities for 750,000 closed bodies and 250,000 open models. A proportionate increase in employees will follow the completion of these plant additions.

Lang Chevrolet Co., sells these cars here.

CUSTOM DESIGNED BODIES FEATURE OF STUDEBAKER AUTOS

The beauty of the custom designed sedans announced by The Studebaker Corporation of America as additions to its line is strikingly exemplified in the Six Six Custom Gingham. Flowing lines and the graceful contour of body, swung low on the chassis, impart a suggestion of fleetness, matching the spirit of Atlanta, whose silver figure adorns the radiator.

The entire atmosphere is one of smartness and the body coloring of Kinick Green and Tucht Gray with black moulding and delicate Apple Green striping contributes appreciably to that motif.

The interior provides all the custom luxuries which the first glance at the car suggests. Seats are wide and deep with form fitting upholstery of fine Chase mohair with broadlace trim. Appointments include Butler finish hardware, dome lights, toggle grips, and silken draw curtains at the wide rear windows.

Other new features make for driving ease and convenience. Instruments—speedometer, ammeter, gasoline gauge, oil pressure gauge and engine heat indicator are conveniently and artistically grouped under glass and illuminated by indirect light. The no-draft ventilating windshield which may be tilted outward by a turn of a handle is an exclusive Studebaker invention and provides abundant ventilation without draft. The two-beam headlights are controlled by a switch on the steering wheel. Spark is automatically controlled. Full vision is provided by the one-piece windshield and narrow roof pillars. A coincidental lock to ignition and steering gear is controlled by the same key which operates the locks of the doors and the spare tire carrier.

Front bumper, rear bumperettes, balloon tires, disc wheels, snubbers and four-wheel brakes, which are standard equipment, insure safety and complete freedom from road shocks.

Greene County Hardware Co., sells the Studebaker here.

WILL OPEN SECTION OF PIKE TO TRAFFIC SOON IS BELIEVED

The section of the Columbus and Cincinnati Pike, between the corporation line of Xenia and the Warren County line, which is being reconstructed by the State Highway Department will be opened to traffic its entire length before winter it is believed by County Surveyor W. J. Davis.

Six miles of the road between Xenia and Spring Valley, are about ready for the surface coat of tar. Thirty days traffic over the road is necessary before the tar can be spread. The three mile section between Spring Valley and the Warren County line has not advanced quite so far as work on this section was not started as soon as that on the part nearer Xenia.

Work of paving the road through the village of Spring Valley with concrete has been commenced by Brandel Brothers of Leesburg. The N. B. Putman Company is contractor for the section of the road between Xenia and Spring Valley and Bish and Carey are contractors for the three miles below the village.

While through traffic is still detouring for the entire length of the improvement, local traffic has been using part of the road between Xenia and Spring Valley for some time.

ARE YOUR CHILDREN PHYSICALLY FIT IS DOCTOR'S QUESTION

By ANDREW P. BIDDLE, M. D. Member Gorgas Memorial Institute (Written for United Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Eighteen million and more of our boys and girls are returning to school this week.

Hundreds of children, in many of our cities, will be gathered together, carrying diseased conditions inimical to themselves and dangerous to others. It will be well, therefore, for parents and teachers to give heed to the health of their charges. Especially is this true in the lower grades where children are too young to draw attention to any abnormality or to a feeling of ill being.

Inspection is particularly needed in rural districts, the villages and towns, for in the larger communities Boards of Health have staffs who daily or less frequently visit the schools and examine all children who, in the judgment of the principal, need to be looked over.

Those who are ill or a danger to others are sent home to the care of the family physician and suggestions are made to him of possible deleterious affections.

All parents must realize that no child can do justice to himself if handicapped by ill health; that many cases of illness might have been prevented, if in the early stages, the symptoms had been removed or a deformity corrected; and that the spread of a contagious disease might have been cut short if the child had been seen early by the family physician and kept at home away from the others.

For example, diseased tonsils often lead to running ears and subsequent deafness, to inflammatory rheumatism and heart disease. Bad teeth do cause serious infection of the joints. An eye strain, which might have been easily corrected, will often cause headaches and hinder the child in studies. Measles, diphtheria and scarlet fever leave in their wake many cases of deafness, injured eyes, impairment which may cause the afflicted child to fall behind the others.

Then again, carelessness or the lack of time to give the child the proper food at breakfast; the hasty and improper lunch; the lack of supervision of the child's hours of recreation and of sleep often undermine its health and interfere with normal growth.

The school child's health demands first consideration. For with health comes the desire to learn, the ambition to do well. A correction here might do well. A correction here might do well. A correction here might do well.

STAR POPULAR WITH FARMERS BECAUSE IT AIDS MARKETING

The automobile, says Fred Johnston, local Star dealer, not only enables the farmer more easily to get to his market, but in many cases brings the market to him.

Just as the motor car has enlarged the selling area of the salesman and widened the trading area of urban business centers, it is now creating new marketing outlets outside the city.

Farmers are just beginning to realize that every automobile that passes their gate houses potential buyers. As a consequence, the roadside markets that line every motor highway are rapidly increasing in number.

Many farmers market all they produce without leaving their own front yard. A census of one hundred Maryland farmers with roadside markets revealed the fact that sixty per cent of them did no local hauling whatever, but disposed of all their crops through their market stands.

These hundred markets, last summer, sold in the aggregate, direct to consumers, approximately $267,000 worth of produce.

DISAPPEARS WITH FIANCEE'S JEWELS ON DAY OF WEDDING

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—Some girls are left waiting at the church, but Senorita Maria Laura Labore, of Buenos Aires, was left waiting at a jewelry shop. Not only that, but her fiancé, Hector Juno Nunez, got away with Maria's jewels, valued at approximately, $2,500.

Nunez had been engaged to marry Senorita Labore. The marriage received the sanction of the girl's family, the date was set, and the arrangements made at the church. On her wedding day, Maria received a telephone call from Nunez, asking her to meet him at a jewelry shop, and to bring along her jewelry, as the groom wanted to make sure that the bride's jewels were in good condition.

Nunez received the jewels excused himself, and left the shop by a side door. Maria waited for two hours. Then she went home. For the first night in six months, Nunez did not show up. The next day, accompanied by her parents and a policeman, Maria went to Nunez's home, where she found that he had left for Rosario the day before, accompanied by his wife and three children.

Nunez was arrested in Rosario, and is awaiting trial here.

LAST DISBANDMENT OF GRAND ARMY TO BE DISCUSSED SOON

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 11.—Because of the fast thinning ranks and increasing superannuation of the heroic survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic, three of its national past commanders will serve as a committee to report on plans for the final disbandment of that old body, and the disposition of its funds and records, at the coming 60th National Encampment here Sept. 19-24, it was announced today.

The committee is composed of Ex-Governor Samuel R. Van Sant, of Minnesota, Lewis Pilcher, of New York, and Corp. James Tanner of the District of Columbia, all past commanders. These three old warriors have expressed their hope that the patriotic program of their auxiliary, Women's Relief Corps, may go on forever. The G. A. R. will be asked to vote on the disintegration plans as a group.

All but one of the surviving past commanders of the Grand Army, comrade Gardner of District of Columbia are expected to be present at the coming encampment.

The past commanders who are expected include Corporal James Tanner, D. C.; Ex-Gov. S. R. Van Sant, Minn.; David J. Palmer, Ia.; Lewis S. Pilcher, N. Y.; James W. Willett, Ia.; Gaylord M. Saltzger, Ohio; Louis Arenberg, Penn.; John R. King, Md.; Ell Torrance, Minn.; and Wm. J. Patterson, Penn.

WOMEN PAY BECAUSE OF FEAR SAYS WOMAN

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—Most men pay their bills because they believe they ought to; most women pay their obligations because they are afraid not to.

Men do not hesitate to borrow money when they need it, but when reverses come, and they cannot pay their installments, they usually send the women to make the excuses.

These are the conclusions reached by Miss Edna M. King, manager of the Youngstown Loan Co., Youngstown, who is to have an active part in the convention of the American Industrial Lenders Association in Cleveland, September 15-17. "However," said Miss King, "the vast majority of people are honest. Sometimes we do not think so, but investigation has shown that when they do not pay, it is because of some circumstance."

These facts and the work of the men to date give Dempsey the edge in hitting power.

Reds Split Two And Get Nowhere

The Reds dropped into third place Friday, remained two hours, and then back into their old position of second place, all due to splitting a twin bill with the desperate Pirates at Pittsburgh.

Eppa Rixey pitched able ball until the eighth frame when the Blues fell on his ambitious curves for three runs, breaking a tie and sailing away the ball game. In the meantime Krenner held the Reds in subjection and the victory enabled the McKeech crew to pass Cincinnati.

In the second game, however, Red Lucas, starting his first game in many days, humbled the Pirates with four hits while his mates amassed ten of Morris, Yde, Aldridge and Sogger, enabling the Hendricks crowd to win 5 to 2. The performance of Lucas was an inspiration and the source of much joy to Red fans.

Lucas joined the club last spring and his consistent victories in early season games convinced everyone he was a find. The sorrel top went away to a big lead and then, as the season bored into summer weather, he cracked and broke. From a complete puzzle Red went to the place where he appeared no puzzle whatever.

It may be that Lucas is a cold weather pitcher and that the early spring weather and the present early fall weather is just what he needs to make him right. If that is the case he should do the Reds a lot of good in the home stretch. The Reds remained at Pittsburgh Saturday for the final game of the season, with the Pirates, from whom they have already taken the season's series.

While there they are hoping the Boston Beane will duplicate their success against the Cardinals, whom they stopped Friday afternoon at Boston by the score of 11 to 3. There is a lot of good baseball under those Beane uniforms in spite of their cellar position and the Reds are hoping they unleash it on the leading Cards during the present series.

Carl Mays was slated to submerge the Pirates Saturday with Yde or Aldridge working for the Blue.

HERMAN WILL FACE HARRIS IN CITY SERIES CONTEST SUNDAY

Although three games have been played in the series for the city championship between the Xenia Reserves and Merchants, the team will meet Sunday in the fourth game exactly in the same place they were before the series opened.

Furthermore Sunday's game will go down in the books as the third game instead of the fourth, as the teams were tied when rain descended last Sunday, ending the pastime after four and one-half innings of play.

Merchants took the series opener and then dropped the second contest to the Reserves, evening the count. With each team holding a game, one will be bound to assume an edge after Sunday's contest unless another tie should result. Promise of good weather indicates the teams will be able to play to a finish Sunday, dispelling possibilities of a knotted count.

Jess Chambliss will have Herman in the bull pen before the fracas gets under way Sunday, it is understood. This had been performing in able style, and the Reserves are counting on him to turn back the heavy hitting Merchants. Franks will again be behind the bat and the rest of the line-up will be the same as used last Sunday.

Merchants will probably depend on Harris to pitch with Jones under wraps for an emergency call. Harris and Herman were highly involved in a close-fitting diamond argument when rain dampened last Sunday's proceedings and another hurling duel would not be out of place Sunday.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock by Kirby and one other association umpire, handling the indicators. Jess Chambliss announces that due to cool weather, the weekly lawn fete being held to help finance the new grandstand at Washington Park will probably be an indoors affair next week.

GEORGIA AND VANDERBILT SEEM TO HAVE PIGSKIN EDGE IN SOUTH

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—With the opening of the 1926 football season just around the corner Georgia and Vanderbilt seem to most observers to have the edge on other teams in the Southern Conference.

The University of Georgia will return more letters from the 1925 team than any other team in the Conference race, with nineteen veterans of last year's team. The squad is being handled by Head Coach "Kid" Woodruff. Jimmy Crowder, one of the famous four horsemen at Notre Dame two years ago, Harry Mehre, another Notre Dame player on the varsity coaching staff, and Coach Stanley, head freshman coach and W. D. (Bill) White, assistant coach for freshman team.

With one of the heaviest teams in the history of the institution, with an interesting schedule and with Coach Dan McGugin assisted by three of his former "stars" Josh Cody, Hek Wakefield and Lewis Hardage, it looks like a big year for the Vanderbilt eleven. Vanderbilt has lost but three of their men from last year's line-up.

Alabama, last year's champions, will be minus the service of "Pooley" Hubert, floor footed half back who was largely responsible for the title being brought back to Alabama. Grant Gibbs, another star of the Crimson Tide last year, now is playing professional baseball with Birmingham in the Southern League. However Coach Wallace Wade expects to make it three in a row this year, a feat no team has yet accomplished in the Southern Conference.

Georgia Tech will enter the field this year also a strong contender for the conference title. With more than seventy-six men on hand W. A. Alexander head coach at Tech, is confident of whipping into shape a team that will bear watching. Douglas Wyckoff, last year's captain of the Golden Tornado and who has been touted as the greatest full back who ever darned a jersey at Tech, graduated last spring. Owen Poole, star center on the Tech line, will lead the Yellow Jackets into action this year.

For the first time in the history of the institution, Georgia Tech will have a velvet gridiron choked with Bermuda grass. Since early this summer Coach Alexander has been supervising the work on the gridiron. The new field will insure fans of a faster game.

Tulane during last year's race established a reputation that has placed them in the position of a champion defending his title. Harry Gamble, captain and "Doc" Wilson will not be disturbed at the ends. This pair along with "Boss" Talbot, tackle, were the main factors in Tulane's line last year.

Tulane has replaced the University of Florida in the Georgia Tech schedule and will play the Golden Tornado on October 9.

With the loss of several men from the 1925 lineup Florida will not furnish so strong a team this year as in the past, according to several critics.

BASEBALL IS QUEER GAME—CARDINALS DEFEATED BY BEANS

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Baseball is a queer game.

The St. Louis Cardinals, a mighty team fighting for supremacy in the close national league race and winning consistently from the strongest teams in the league, met the tall end Boston Braves in a game that meant much to their pennant aspirations and were disgracefully beaten.

The Braves, who have lost 82 games this season, had to pick yesterday for one of their rare victories. They rapped eighteen hits off the Cardinals' star, Grover Cleveland Alexander and aided by three errors by Thevnew, won 11 to 3.

The Cards still held their lead today, but it had been cut to two and a half games over Cincinnati and three over Pittsburgh. The two contending teams, supposed to be cutting each other's throat neatly in the Pirates city, fooled the dopsters by breaking even in a double header and maintaining the status quo.

St. Louis has another royal chance today, however. The Cardinals meet the Braves again in a double header and if they don't win both, baseball form means nothing. Meanwhile Pittsburgh and Cincinnati meet again, and one of them may fall another game and a half back of St. Louis which would come close to being fatal at this stage of the close race. St. Louis has only fifteen more games to play, Cincinnati, sixteen and Pittsburgh, seventeen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Built as the greatest monument to tennis and a testimonial of the tremendous growth of interest in the game, the big stadium of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills has turned into a white elephant and a serious problem.

After the women's national championship and the final round of the Davis Cup eliminations had been played, a member of the club and formerly one of the most influential officials of the tennis association, asked a newspaperman:

"What are we going to do with this thing?" pointing at the stadium.

"Hold fights in it!" he was told. "That's about the only other use we could make of it and we can't do that—at least not until the situation gets desperate," he said. "The acoustics are so bad it can't be used for concerts or outdoor dramas and it is not built for any other sport."

"Here we have a $250,000 investment that is being used only about twenty-three days a year and for the remainder of the time just sits here eating up interest and suffering from the effects of the weather."

When the stadium was being planned, tennis was going so big in the United States that some of the club members thought it was not big enough. There was the chance at that time for one or several more matches between Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and Molla Malory or Helen Wills but Mlle. Lenglen refused to come back until she had turned professional.

Like the baseball fans, who turned last year from the champion New York Giants and threw their support to the second division Yankees, the tennis fans seem to have become fed up on winning tennis.

Bill Tilden, Helen Wills, and the American Davis Cup teams had such little competition for so many years that men who used to enjoy an afternoon of tennis turned to a round of golf for their recreation.

The attendance during the women's national championship was almost pitiful. There were not more than 1,500 paid admissions in the stands and a match between Mrs. Mallory and Elizabeth Ryan certainly should have been more attractive.

It may go to prove, after all, in spite of the argument that no man is bigger than his game, that the player some time is bigger than his game.

And this should give official tennis a thought.

If there are only one or two players in tennis who can interest the public, what will be the result if those players turn professional?

Mlle. Lenglen is the greatest drawing card in tennis—perhaps in any sport outside of boxing. She has the appeal to those who appreciate the artistic and the power to draw those who would like to see her get beaten.

Helen Wills is a drawing card and so are Bill Tilden, Bill Johnston and Vinnie Richards.

Why doesn't the association become progressive and at least consider the possibilities in open tennis, it was asked of the club member who brought up the white elephant discussion.

"I think the association will have to do it in time," he answered. "Personally, I have changed my mind. I thought pro tennis or open tennis wouldn't go when Mlle. Lenglen turned professional but now I believe it will. Established on a standard basis with good supervision I think it would go."

PRINCE HAS DIARY

LONDON, Sept. 11.—It has been learned that the prince of Wales is faithfully keeping a diary. Each night he writes into his book, in his careful rounded calligraphy what he has done and thought during the day.

Like most diaries, the prince's record-book is highly confidential, but some day it may become a document worth a fabulous price. The prince, judging by his public letters, has a keen wit and an observant eye, and it is confidently stated that what he puts into his diary every night would be well worth reading if it became public.

MUSSOLINI MADE TARGET OF BOMB

Miss Tulsa Is Queen Of Beauty - Pictures "King"

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11.—Miss America ruled alone as queen of beauty today.

The throne, occupied by Norma Smallwood, the dark haired, 18-year-old girl from Tulsa, Okla., who was declared the most beautiful of the picked beauties of America in the Atlantic City contest, was unshared by a king, except an imaginary one.

What sort of man would suit the girl judged the fairest in America? A tall man from somewhere.

Miss America of 1926 was asked the question by the United Press today. She smiled—and it was her quick, spontaneous smile that won the hearts of many of the judges—and answered with engaging frankness of the modern girl.

"He must be tall," she said. "I would like to have my head reach hardly higher than the top button of his vest. I have pictured him many times. He is about five feet eleven inches tall.

He has a smooth clear complexion, brown hair like mine and parted just left of the center.

"Miss America" is slender, of medium height and extremely graceful. Her dark brown hair is unbobbed and is parted in the middle.

She is eighteen years old, five feet four inches high and weighs 119 pounds. Her eyes are blue. Her features may be called "classic" and she lacks the perth prettiness that distinguishes the flapper type. From her well-molded throat, which is twelve inches in circumference, her lines curve over a normal thirty-three inch bust. Her waist, unrestrained by corsets, is neither wasp-like or bulky. It measures twenty-four inches.

From her hips, which measure thirty-six inches, the figure tapers in a graceful line. Her slender thighs are nineteen, her calf thirteen and her graceful ankles eight. Her wrists are six inches.

THREE MIDDLEWEST SENATORS ARE ILL

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Three middlewestern senators are ill, one critically, and three senatorial candidates have been warned by physicians to slacken their pace in the interests of health.

Senator Thomas D. Schall, of Minnesota is suffering from appendicitis in a Minneapolis hospital. He may have to submit to an operation.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin is in Mayo Brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., having overtaxed himself in the Wisconsin primary campaign.

Physicians are in almost constant attendance at the bedside of Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois. He is in a sanitarium at Martinsville, Ind. It is feared he will not recover.

Col. Smith W. Brookhart, who is virtually certain of election to the senate from Iowa, is recovering at his home in Washington, Ia., following a physical collapse while on a campaign tour.

Both Col. Frank Smith, Republican and George E. Brennan, Democrat, Illinois senatorial candidates are laid up. Smith is recovering from a gall bladder operation and Brennan from an injured knee.

Alexandra Kollantai will be the first woman diplomatic representative to Mexico. She was appointed Minister Plenipotentiary by the Soviet.

PRINCE SPEAKS IN AMERICAN IDIOMS

LONDON, Sept. 11.—That the Prince of Wales' English has, occasionally, an American touch was the interesting observation made by his audience at Oxford—perhaps the most critical and cultivated audience in Great Britain.

For example the Prince chose the American pronunciation of "CAPitalist" instead of the prevailing English pronunciation of "CAPTalist." He wobbled a little on another word, first calling it, a la United States, "LABoratory" and then flopping over, later, to the English form of "LABORatory."

His Royal Highness likes the "t" in "often" and says "die-rect-ion" and "ac-cos-ties"—purely personal choices these. He stressed the first syllable of "illust-rate" and "pursuit" but in most respects he adhered to the forms generally favored by the bulk of his audience.

BLAME ROBBERY ON BOOTLEGGING GANG

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Need of funds to defend alcohol gang leaders now in jail, led members of the gang to stage a daring $135,000 mail train robbery yesterday police believed today.

The robbery was the work of the Salts-McErlans gang, according to Deputy Detective Chief John Stege. Salts, former alcohol king, now held on the charge of murdering a rival bootlegger, "Mitters" Foley, is said to be almost penniless, while McErlane, who is to be tried soon at Valparaiso, Ind., for the murder of a lawyer there, is also believed to have squandered the large fortune he one time had.

WILL ORGANIZE TO DEFEND PRIMARY

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—A state wide organization will be formed here Monday to defend the Ohio primary system which is under fire of some political leaders.

J. F. Burke, of Elyria, chairman of the primary defense league has named more than a score of speakers who will campaign against the proposed constitutional amendment to change the primary system which will be voted on in November.

Burke called the meeting Monday to form a permanent organization.

SAUCE FOR GOOSE

MARIETTA, O., Sept. 11.—Pearl E. Totman, mail carrier who was fined by Mayor John W. Gray yesterday for parking his automobile without lights had the mayor arrested on a charge that the latter parked his automobile on the wrong side of the street two months ago. A deputy sheriff arrested the mayor who pleaded not guilty.

VESTRYMAN ADMITS USING FLASHLIGHT FOLLOWING MURDER

Testimony Expected To Prove Key To Crime Solution

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 11.—A flashlight, turned on the scene of the Hall-Mills murder under a crab apple tree on the Phillips farm near New Brunswick, was believed today to be the key to solution of the four year old mystery.

Ralph V. Gorsline, ventryman in the church of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, who was found murdered with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer, was reported to have admitted that he recognized at least one of the participants in the murder when he turned on his flashlight after hearing shots and screams in De Russey's lane.

Gorsline, after denying for four years that he was anywhere near the scene of the murder, weakened under a twenty-four hour "third degree" yesterday and admitted he was in his automobile in De Russey's lane that night with Miss Catherine Rastall, choir singer in the church.

FORMER XENIAN IS ACCUSED IN DAYTON

Fred McGee, 27, colored, former Xenian, is under arrest in Dayton charged with having stolen from the Braun Brothers Packing Co., Troy, a truck load of cured meat, pork chops and lard consigned by Dayton police when McGee was arrested Friday.

McGee declared that he was enroute to Wilberforce University where he was to have delivered the meat, which was confiscated from his truck on suspicion. Later the meat was identified by Walter Braun of the Braun Brothers Packing Co. Dayton police say that McGee has been making regular trips through Dayton with purloined goods.

President Gilbert Jones of Wilberforce University told Chief of Police M. E. Graham that McGee had at one time been a student at Wilberforce but that he was not employed by the school, and he knew nothing concerning him now. McGee's family formerly lived near Wilberforce, but moved to Miami County.

BALDWIN STIRS UP STRIFE WITH STRAW

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Straw hats are almost obsolete in England, but they have just received a last-minute revival through the appearance on the streets of Prime Minister Baldwin topped with a "boater," as the straw hats are called in England. The Premier's political audacity in sponsoring a form of headgear which has almost passed out of the book of styles has caused much comment.

While straw hats are in disfavor however, the "topper" is enjoying a boom. Not since the beginning of the war have so many shiny tall hats and collapsible opera-hats been seen in London. The manufacturers are busy, not only meeting the demand of the male dressers but also satisfying a new fashion in women's millinery, which suggests that a town of the same material of which "toppers" are made will supped the interminable felts this winter.

HENS TURNED INTO ROOSTERS BY KNIFE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 11.—How hens can be turned into roosters and male guinea pigs into hermaphrodites was demonstrated at the World Congress of physiologists, just closed here, by two French scientists, Professors Cardroit and Pezard who spoke before an assembly of colleagues in the Stockholm city hall.

After a certain operation the hens begin by laying eggs and begin to crow. By other experiments the two scholars had transformed hens into a mixture of half hen and half rooster, so that certain feathers were half those of one sex and half of the other. Among birds the male tendency predominates, the two lecturers said, while among mammals, the female qualities are the stronger.

WALKER KILLED

UNRHICHVILLE, O., Sept. 11.—An initial W on a belt buckle was the only mark of identification found on the body of a man about 38 years old. The man apparently had been killed by a passenger train while walking the tracks near here. The body is at R. K. Lindsey's morgue, Dennison.

POLICE FOLLOW FALSE TIP IN EFFORT TO ARREST M'DERMOTT

Detectives Continue Search For New Evidence While Leaders Mark Time—Rudner Arraignments Await Mazer

CANTON, O., Sept. 11.—Canton underworld and the little group of men engaged in removing the vice conditions that are believed to have resulted in the slaying of Don R. Mellett, crusading editor, marked time today with the exception of detectives of the new regime at police headquarters who continued their search for new evidence.

Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner who with Patrick E. McDermost are charged with the murder of Mellett will not be arraigned until Mazer who is under a liquor law indictment in Cleveland is turned over to Stark County officials. Prosecutor C. B. McClintock said today that Rudner would not be arraigned until Mazer is turned over to local authorities.

Acting Police Chief John H. Wise today sent several policemen to a brick yard near here following a tip that McDermost, the missing "keyman" was hiding there. A suspicious appearing person was found and later released but no trace of McDermost was found.

The next event in the Mellett-underworld-police investigation will be the report of the civil service commission on charges of inefficiency against Police Chief Seranus Lancel. The ouster charges are expected to be upheld. The report will be announced Monday.

OHIO BUYING COAL NOW AFTER PLEA

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—Ohioans are responding to Gov. Donahey's plea to "buy Ohio coal now," in order to save the mining industry of the state which has been practically idle for months. Coal merchants here today reported an increase in the sale of Ohio coal since the proclamation.

GOVERNMENT'S STAR WITNESS MAY ALSO HELP DEFENDANTS

German Proves Neutrality On Stand—Cross Examination Shows Large Part of Stock Owned Outside Germany

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The ultimate position of Richard Merton of Frankfurt, Germany, in the government's case against Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, was one for conjecture today while the trial of the former attorney general and the former alien property custodian stood in adjournment until Monday.

Merton, one of Germany's wealthiest men, was called as the government's star witness. But because of his apparent neutrality on the witness stand it became evident that Merton finally may prove as important a witness for the defense as for the government.

Although the defense cross examination had only started when court adjourned yesterday Merton revealed an intricate story in which he swam and drifted fifteen miles, Louis Timson, of Boston, American Legion aspirant for channel swimming honors, abandoned his attempt to swim the English channel at 5:05 a. m. today and announced he will try again before next Saturday, weather permitting.

Timson hopes to wrest the channel speed title for the United States from Georges Michel, French swimmer, who hung up a new record yesterday, fifteen hours before Timson began his attempt. Michel's time was eleven hours and six minutes.

The swimmer was defeated by a fresh southeasterly wind. He used a breast stroke all the way, of cutting scrapes last night. It was his first attempt at crossing. No swimmer has ever crossed the famous strait on the first attempt.

when it seized as German property during the war the assets of the American Metals Co., controlled by Mellon's companies—and hence the return of the property to the Swiss metals company, was not an illegal act as the government charges in its complaint against Daugherty and Miller.

It was evident today that the defense will carry Merton through a lengthy cross examination.

AMERICAN GIVES UP CHANNEL ATTEMPT

DOVER, England, Sept. 11.—Battered by rough seas after seven hours in the water in which he swam and drifted fifteen miles, Louis Timson, of Boston, American Legion aspirant for channel swimming honors, abandoned his attempt to swim the English channel at 5:05 a. m. today and announced he will try again before next Saturday, weather permitting.

ONE DEAD, TWO NEAR DEATH AFTER FIGHT

LORAIN, O., Sept. 11.—One man is dead and two men are dying in the hospital here as the result of cutting scrapes last night. Stanley Rockish, boarding house proprietor, was stabbed to death in a fight with L. L. Ralich. The latter was arrested this morning as he attempted to leave town. He claims Rockish attacked him and that he knifed the boarding house keeper in self defense.

James Bond, said by police to be the king of the colored underworld here was stabbed in the back by an unknown assailant. His right lung was punctured. Hospital authorities say his condition is serious.

Because Walter Konolich refused to give his cigarette, August Komera attacked him with a knife. The victim is in the hospital with wounds in the back, chest, arm and leg. Komera is in city jail charged with cutting to kill.

SPAIN RESIGNS FROM LEAGUE WHILE TURKEY SEEKS TO JOIN

GENEVA, Sept. 11.—Spain today resigned from the league of nations.

The Spanish representative communicated his nation's decision to Sir Eric Drummond of the league secretariat at 11:30 a. m.

Spain's resignation follows the league's refusal to grant her demand for a permanent seat in the league council.

The Spanish notification was couched in friendly terms. It contained thanks for recent expressions of appreciation of Spain's role in the league and wished the league "fullest success."

The resignation becomes effective in two years, Spain meantime must continue paying dues, but likely will not participate in league affairs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 11.—Turkey today applied for membership in the league of nations.

The republic's request, however, demanded that it be granted membership in the league council, as a provision of its membership in the league.

PREMIER UNHURT AS MISSILE HITS CAR; ASSAILANT CAUGHT

Two Other Bombs And Pistol Found—Crowd Cheers Il Duce

ROME, Sept. 11.—Premier Benito Mussolini's charmed life again has been spared—this time from a bomb thrown at him today by a young Italian anarchist.

Mussolini escaped unharmless, but four passersby were severely injured.

The assailant, Ermete Gionvanni, the stone cutter, was arrested and when searched two other bombs and a pistol were found in his pockets.

Mussolini, unmoved by the attack, calmly ordered his chauffeur to drive him to the foreign office, while crowds gathered and wildly cheered "Il Duce."

The United Press correspondent was standing in front of the public works building waiting for a trolley car, when he saw the premier's automobile driving at a rapid rate toward the building along the Mole Antoniana.

Just as the machine reached the opposite side of the street near Newspaper Kiosk, it threw a bomb toward the premier's car.

The bomb struck glancingly on the top of the limousine, then falling to the street where it went skating along the pavement.

Almost immediately there was a loud detonation.

The United Press correspondent saw the premier lean forward and direct the chauffeur to speed up the car. The big limousine immediately shot forward at tremendous speed.

A police car followed.

Detectives leaped out, running after the youth who had thrown the bomb.

The correspondent saw the lad reach into his pocket and draw forth another bomb.

He threw it aimlessly, but it failed to explode.

The police closed in and captured him.

Cries of terror from women and children on the street broke out.

The correspondent saw a street sweeper and a newsboy fall, wounded.

Crowds gathered around them offering aid and the injured were carried to the nearby Policlinic Hospital.

Minister Giurati addressed the crowd, rejoicing that the premier once more was safe "for the greatness of Italy and the scathing denunciation of the attempt as due to the machinations of Italy's foes."

When Mussolini reached the foreign office an immense crowd began to gather there and soon was cheering "Il Duce" wildly.

Flowers began pouring in from Mussolini's friends and soon the entire interior of his private office was practically filled with blossoms.

Later reports indicated that the four persons injured by the bomb might have been more seriously hurt than at first believed. Police also announced that a thorough search revealed the assailant of the premier was carrying a revolver as well as two bombs in addition to the one he threw.

Monsignor Pizzardo communicated news of the attack to the pope who stood with bowed head for a moment, evidently thanking God that Mussolini's life had been spared.

"The Almighty does not want well meaning men to die before their work is accomplished," the pope was reported to have said.

Today's attack on Mussolini was the fifth instance of actual violence against Mussolini since he became premier, while a sixth would have been recorded would a plot against him a year ago, been successful.

In all of the attempts and the one major plot, however, only the demented British subject, the Honorable Violet Gibson has been able to break sufficiently through the charm which may believe surrounds the life of Mussolini, to inflict actual injury upon him.

Of all the attempts, the plot which was frustrated before a blow was struck, was probably the most dangerous from a political standpoint. It was planned for Nov. 6, 1925 when Mussolini was to have been shot while addressing a throng at the Chigi palace.

The good fortune which protects Mussolini intervened. Tito Zaniboni, an expert marksman, who was to have done the shooting, had confided his plan to a Catholic layman who, though no friend of Mussolini, found the burden of the secret too great and finally gave warning of the plot.

COMPARATIVE ENFORCEMENT

Almost every day we read somebody's comparison between law enforcement in England and in America. First and last, every phase of the subject is gone into from the technical to the impressions of the "man on the street." There is but one side to the argument. England does have her laws better enforced than we do in America. England has a better judicial system than ours. English courts will have disposed of a murder case, inflicted capital punishment and closed the incident in a most matter-of-fact way in the length of time it takes us to get the case to where the expert testimony is being selected and duly announced prior to the first postponement.

But there is more to it than that. The public opinion of the two countries has to be taken into account. Our public tolerates lack of law enforcement and a goodly portion encourages it. It might be found handy some day. The English public will have none of it. A lawyer who would violate their legal code of ethics would be treated much as we tried to treat Grover Cleveland Bergdoli, only he escaped. The public mind over there runs to abstract justice. A murderer is a man who commits a murder and never, by any professional hokus pokus is he transformed into a hero. He is hanged, unless he can show sufficient extenuation to be given the mercy of a life sentence. And none of the legal fraternity would dare to take the steps to prevent one of the other that are daily taken in this country, and the reason they do not is public opinion.

We will get to it some day. We have not as yet grown out of the feeling that it is "smart" to outwit the law. So long as we think that way, there will be "outwitters" for hire. Every demand furnishes something of a supply. That is an ancient law.

EUROPEAN DIPLOMACY

European diplomacy has America's diplomacy lashed to the mast. The United States proposed to join the world court on certain conditions, chief of which is that the court cannot act on any question in which the United States claims to have an interest, except with the United States' consent.

It was a pretty important qualification. Few in Washington believed the world court powers would consider it. Now it appears that maybe they will—on conditions of their own.

Their conditions? Oh, war debt revision, and a reduction in tariffs, to let foreign products into the United States, and possibly a modification of American immigration restriction—a few things like that. They are not definitely proposed yet, but they are hinted at.

Hitherto, since the war, the European powers have been on the outside, looking into the United States and asking for things. Now the United States is on the outside of the world court, looking in, and asking what the price of admission is. Indications are that it will stay on the outside.

ENGLAND RESORTS TO ADVERTISING

Stealing a suggestion from America conservative, old England is awakening to the value of advertising her attractions. She has organized a "Come to Britain" campaign which is putting out highly colored and ingeniously worded advertising matter. The purpose of all this is to lure the American tourist, and get the tourist's dollar.

It hurts the British pride to see the Americans spending $250,000,000 in France and only $100,000,000 in England Italy and other European countries combined. They are not particularly concerned about the other countries, but they do want more of the tourists to visit England. And if the deluxe pamphlets will do it, she is going to give the rest of Europe a run for America's dollars.

WORKING FOR THE PUBLIC

The public should pay more to get more in public service. It should pay more in honors, or in money, or both.

This fact is again brought to mind by the case of Frank Farrington, for many years an official of the miners' union who just now has turned to private employment with a big coal company.

The miners union paid Farrington $5,000 a year and is probably developed factions hostile to him and made a fight on him at the elections when his candidacy for the job came up, and filed "charges" against him from time to time. The coal company to which he has gone will pay him $25,000 a year and give him full co-operation and expect to make money off him.

It is a contrast the argument of which, applied to public service in general, causes wonder that the public gets as good service as it does.

The man keeps himself reduced trying to earn enough money for his wife to pay for some reducing method.

FORMER XENIAN IS KILLED IN WEST

Death broke a silence of four years, when Mrs. Emma Stephens, 107 Dayton Ave., received a telegram Friday night announcing the accidental death of her brother, John E. Jenkins, 68, in Minneapolis, Minn.

Mr. Jenkins had been a wanderer all his life. Fourteen years ago he visited Mrs. Stephens in this city, and when he left told her mixed whole spices (cloves, allspice, stick cinnamon and whole cloves), and two lemons cut in strips, seeds discarded. To prepare the rind, pare off the green outer layer; also discard the soft center part. Have the melon ripe. Make a sirup by boiling the sugar with the water for five minutes, then to it add the watermelon rind, lemon and spices and cook till the rind is tender. Fill at once into hot, sterilized glass jars and seal airtight. Many people like a ginger flavor as well as the lemon flavor. To obtain this add a little ginger root to the boiling sirup, and discard it, with the bag of spices, before canning the mixture. This is a most delicious sweetmeat to serve with a guest supper. Such little side dishes "dress up" a table wonderfully.

DIRT

A friend of mine took me to his country home last night. I slept in a house over 150 years old. My friend took me into one of the rooms and there played in a most expert manner an old organ. The music kissed the walls of that room as the tones of an old violin rebound in seasoned wood.

SNEAK THIEF GETS $10 FROM DWELLING

While Mrs. George Fisher, wife of the caretaker at Kil Kare park, took a nap in the sitting room at her home there Friday afternoon, a sneak thief opened a registered letter in the kitchen and stole a $10 bill from it.

Mrs. Fisher signed for the letter, which was addressed to an employee of the park, and then placed the letter on a shelf in the kitchen where she had been ironing, while she laid down on a couch in the next room. When she arose she found that the envelope had been opened, and the $10 which the note enclosed said it had contained, extracted.

Deputy Sheriff John Baughn who investigated could not locate a prowler around the park.

SIDELIGHTS ON Greene County History

POWDER MILL EXPLOSION

Notwithstanding the care taken, the history of all power works is marked by explosions of greater or less frequency.

One of the heaviest of these occurred on the morning of March 1, 1886 at the Miami Powder Co. plant at Goes, not extinct. Several had taken place at the same plant in the interval of years.

A large dry house containing 50,000 pounds of powder at this time exploded, from some undiscussed cause.

It was completely demolished; the fields about were strewn with debris, none of it larger than a man's hand. A car to which a horse had been harnessed could not be found; one of the large wheels was thrown to the other side of the Little Miami River, 500 yards distant. Of three men at work there, the largest part found was a piece of backbone; other fragments being scattered necessitating the gathering up of the remains in bags and baskets. Part of an arm with other debris was found at Old Town, two miles away. Houses were damaged and debris scattered for miles away.

Scenes among families of the employees who flocked to the ruins were heartrending. As husbands, fathers and brothers came out uninjured, their families gathered about them and wept tears of joy. But three were killed.

Every building at Xenia was shaken and many windows broken. People rushed out of their houses into the street fearing that the buildings were about to fall, while north of the city could be seen an immense white cloud of smoke hanging over the scene of devastation. The cloud was photographed from Xenia.

Reports of the explosion were heard 100 miles distant. A house was completely demolished and the covered bridge on the Yellow Springs turnpike, half a mile away, was blown in. A number of people in the vicinity were so prostrated by the shock they were confined to their beds for several days thereafter.

A MOTHER'S COUNSEL

"There is sin in the world," said the mother wise, "But be you brave and true And never the joy shall quit your eyes Or the sin bring hurt to you."

"There are those in the world who would betray. But be you not afraid, If you hearken not to what tempters say You shall never be betrayed."

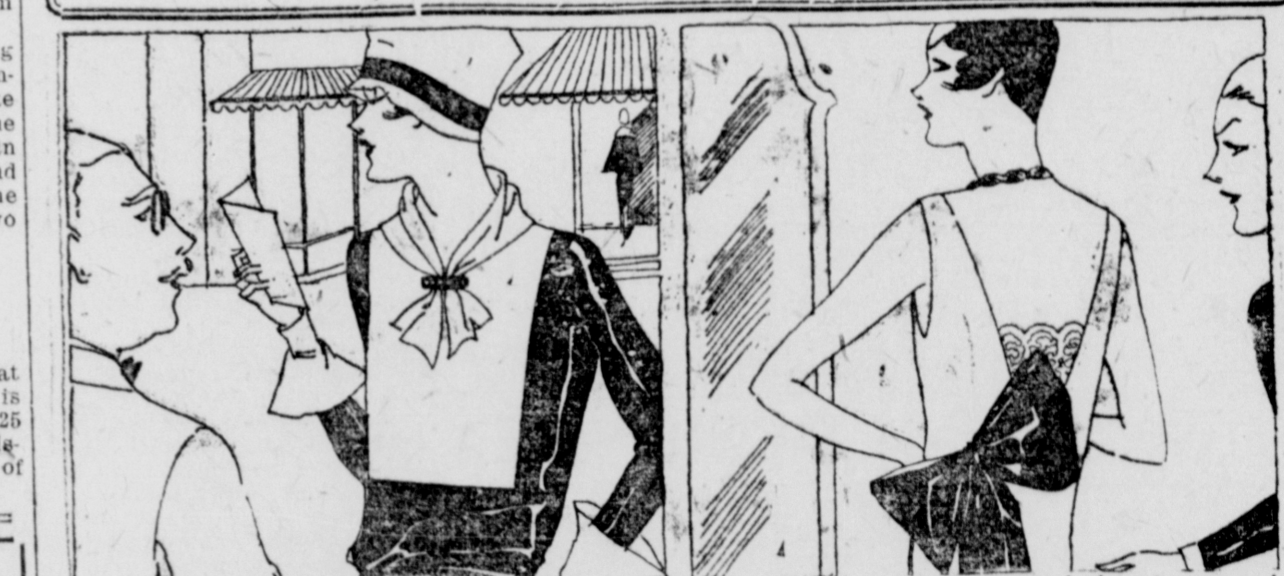

"This life knows much that is red with shame, But, daughter of mine, be true And the words which poison a woman's fame Shall never be said of you."

"For you may walk where the sinners are, If your heart be pure within, And whether the road be short or far You shall never be touched by sin."

Modish Mitzi MITZI CHANGES HER MIND AND HER COSTUME FREQUENTLY Jay V. Jay

Dad said that if Mitzi wasn't ready in five minutes he'd phone her and find out the reason why. Well, judging from the agitation of the phone he is doing the first and not finding out the second. Mitzi thinks she would save more time changing her pleated georgette with the scarf collar—and not answering it.

Mitzi exercises it—beyond the limit. At least, that is what Dad thinks when he sees her appear finally in a crepe costume with metal embroidery on the collar, cuffs and vest. "Yes," she says, "I couldn't decide what to wear so I changed my dress three times."

Dad has been waiting impatiently to show her around Des Moines. Mitzi, he remonstrates, "you are so late that we'll have no more time to see anything but the State Capitol. Time and tide wait for no woman," sighs Dad, "only mortal man is dumb enough to do it." He can't help but cast an admiring glance at Mitzi's hat. The effect is, well, enough for any man to wait for.

POCKETBOOKS WERE NEVER SO BEAUTIFUL

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Some women are spending so much on the new handbags and pocketbooks that they have little money left for other accessories. And who can blame them?

Pocketbooks have never been so beautiful as they are this season and each costume must have its own harmoniously matched bag to be considered smart. Shapes of handbags vary from large or medium-sized envelopes to flat pouch effects. Bags with long strap handles are not as new or smart as those with short straps or disappearing ones. On many of the pouch bags we find the short strap handle which can be slipped down into the bag when one wishes the handle-less model.

Lizard and reptile skins of all sorts, calf's leather, suede, velvet, and even ostrich hide is used in the making of the modern handbag. Black suede is particularly in vogue this year and it is astonishing how many black bags are being sold. Chanel red, jungle green, tan and brown are other good bag colors which come in both suede and glazed leather styles. The large square envelope of suede with the flap outlined in tiny gilt clasps is new and smart. Some smaller envelope shapes are made exactly like envelopes being stitched to represent an envelope.

Velvet bags appeal to those who plan on wearing velvet costumes. Pouch shapes in velvet are not so good this year. The velvet bag may be trimmed in gilt or silver pipings and adorned with a gold metal clasp set with brilliants or with a cut steel clasp. Dull costume shades are those best liked for velvet models. A handsome dressy bag is made entirely of gilt leather in envelope shape. Stenciled effects on unadorned leathers are among the novelties with plaid, mottled or modernistic designs on dull backgrounds.

GREENE COUNTY NORMAL OPENS WITH LARGEST ENROLLMENT

The Greene County Normal School at Cedarville College, now three years old, has the largest enrollment in its history, thirty students, including four young men, having entered for the fall semester, according to County Superintendent H. C. Aultman.

Miss Edna Howland, new director of the normal school, has a staff of five composed of M. L. Frazer, Harley S. Smith, Mrs. Marion L. Borst, Mrs. Walter Corry and Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College. Superintendent Aultman will also devote some time to teaching in the normal school.

Included in the enrollment this year are students from Fayette, Madison and Warren Counties, as well as Greene, showing the school's work and influence is broadening. Among the students are several teachers who have been engaged in the work for some time, and have stopped for the year in order to take the normal work. At least one year of normal training is now required by law of an applicant for a teaching position.

SUCCESS OF OLD SCOUTS DRIVE INSURES CABIN FOR BOY SCOUTS

Xenia Boy Scouts are assured of their cabin in Shawnee Park. This was the announcement made Saturday morning when success of the campaign for membership in the "Xenia Old Scouts Association" was certain.

Three hundred and seventy persons of both sexes joined the Old Scout Association and gave a total subscription of $540 Thursday and Friday when members of the two local troops of Boy Scouts called upon them with invitations to join.

The boys could not see everybody in two days, and any future memberships will be taken by R. H. Kingsbury, deputy scout commissioner. The yearly membership fee in the Old Scout Association is one dollar, but any subscription above that amount will be received. Many persons made their subscriptions greater than the one dollar fee.

Ground has been donated for the cabin in the northeast corner of Shawnee Park, and a member of the committee of the Old Scouts said Saturday that it is expected to commence work immediately on the structure, which will be of shingle exterior and ample for the present needs. It will be a two-room cabin with a ten foot fire place at one end, around which the youthful scouts plan glorious times to the crisp fall and winter days coming. The cabin will be so constructed that additional rooms may be added later. It will

and it is believed that eventually each teacher will be required to have two years normal work before being given a position.

The following is a portion of a letter regarding the normal school sent out by Miss Howland, the director and County Superintendent Aultman to prospective students and teachers:

"We want to call your attention to the consolidation of the several county normal teacher training schools at Cedarville. This is under the direction of the state department of education and offers the following:

Free tuition; thirty six weeks and thirty two semester hours of training accepted in any of our state normal colleges; a faculty of five or six professors instead of one as before; physical education in a large gymnasium, dramatics and oratory under skilled directors, religious and ethical training under Professor McChesney; the benefits of college atmosphere and refinements accumulated for thirty years and an excellent opportunity to be placed in a good paying position next May or June."

DOG KILLED AFTER BITING THREE ON STREET SATURDAY

A Beagle hound bearing a license that had been issued in Darke County, was shot by Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin after it had bitten two children, a man, another dog and attempted to bite a colored woman, on E. Main St. in front of the L. E. John billiard hall shortly before noon Saturday.

A brother and sister, aged 10 and 12 years, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Osborn, of the Columbus Pike, were slightly bitten on the legs by the animal, and their uncle, Elmer Trubee, N. West St., was scratched on the arm by the animal's teeth when he seized the dog while it was snapping among the Saturday noonday crowd on the street.

The dog was confined in a box in the alley at the rear of the pool room after Mr. Trubee grabbed it. Later it was killed and its head will be sent to Columbus by Dr. W. C. Zell, for examination of the brain in the state laboratories for the purpose of determining whether or not the animal is a victim of rabies.

Dr. C. G. McPherson, who cauterized the wounds of Trubee and the two children, believes that the dog is the same animal that bit a three year old girl named Caney on E. Third St., a few days ago. The dog killed Saturday answers the description of that animal.

A bulldog belonging to William Fox, S. Detroit St., was also bitten by the supposed mad dog Saturday morning and it was at once taken to a veterinarian for Pasteur treatment by its owner. The dog will be confined.

Dr. W. C. Zell, veterinarian, believes that the dog was the victim of rabies. He has handled a number of cases during the last few months in which the analysis showed positive case of rabies, he says.

WILL MAKE TOUR

Dr. W. C. Zell, veterinary surgeon will accompany Ira Jackson, Tippecanoe, king of Duroc swine breeders in America, on a trip by motor, through the west and north west, starting Sunday morning, during which they will visit livestock shows and some of the big breeders farms.

They will go from Chicago, their first stop at Peoria, Ill., to attend the National Swine and Livestock Show, and afterward will visit Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Sioux City and other places.

XENIA MINISTER IS GRANTED LEAVE

The Rev. F. W. Stanton, First M. E. Church, this city, who has presented his resignation of the local charge and asked a year's leave of absence, at the West Ohio Conference, in Toledo, O., this week, has been granted leave. Assignment of ministers in the conference has not been made as yet.

WOMAN CONQUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers,"

Mrs. Jack Lorberter, of 704 Delwood Place wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company.

"If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results."

In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, "I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight, I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me." One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own.

"I bought the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Lorberter continued, "and have had fine results. The condition I was in made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask 'How is housekeeping?' and he says, 'It is just like being in Heaven!'"

yet. The ministers voted to hold the next conference at Delaware, O., next Fall.

An effort will be made to persuade the Central Ohio and North-east Ohio Conferences to conduct their meetings in Delaware at the same time.

ABRAM'S STORY IS BASIS OF SERMON

The story of Abram leaving the land of Canaan and going into Egypt during the time of famine was the basis of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Gibson, Friday night at the Church of the Nazarene.

"This picture," said the Rev. Mr. Gibson, "is the picture of a backslider. The context shows that God led Abram into Canaan, but where does it say that God told him to leave when the pressure came. After Abram entered Canaan, he always linked his temporal and spiritual interests together by building an altar of worship every time he pitched his tent even for one night. But after he ran away from the place where God wanted him, we find him with no altar until he came back from Egypt to the place from which he had started and there he called upon God."

"The great danger of Christians today, is that they will become so taken up with the temporal things of life that they forget their place of worship and communion with God."

The Rev. Mr. Gibson will preach again Saturday evening at 7:30 and at both Sunday morning and evening services. The public is invited.

HEAVY FINE GIVEN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

A second fine of $1,000 within three months was given to Earl Cline, 25, of 12 Charles St., by Mayor John W. Prugh, Friday afternoon, for bootlegging.

Cline was found guilty of unlawful possession of whiskey, although he denied ownership of half a pint of liquor found in his automobile, and denied that he or his wife owned seven half pints which police extracted from a rainwater barrel where they say Mrs. Cline deposited it at 2 o'clock, Friday morning. Mrs. Cline, who escaped from police after it is alleged she threw a paper sack containing the booze into the rainwater barrel at the home of a neighbor, has not been apprehended. Her husband is in the county jail.

Cline was fined $1,000 and costs about three months ago by Mayor Prugh after he was convicted of having sold liquor to two youths which almost caused the death of one of them. His attorney took the case to higher courts on error and it is pending there.

Police say that they almost made another case of selling poisoned liquor to a youth, who after recovering from the effects of the booze asserted that he did not secure it from Cline, a charge which his brother had made.

WIFE ASKS DIVORCE FROM MINOR YOUTH

Charging the youthful husband with neglecting her while he is out nightly until midnight or later enjoying himself with the boys, Martha Margaret Mason, 16, by her next friend May Ellis, has brought suit for divorce from John Bivon Mason, a minor aged 19 years, to whom she was married at Bowersville February 20, 1926. She charges extreme cruelty in that since August 1 he has left her alone every night, although he is in a highly nervous condition, and has caused her great mental anguish. He rarely takes her in his company, has told her in the presence of others that he is ashamed of her, and falsely accused her of intimacy with other men she charges. She asks alimony and an injunction preventing him encumbering her hold goods.

WHIPPET TYPE OF AUTO COMING INTO QUICK POPULARITY

Following the announcement of the European type light car, the Whippet, made a few weeks ago by Willys-Overland, Inc., another large manufacturer has presented a remodeled type of four-cylinder car in the light car field and other announcements are expected to follow.

It is stated on the automobile trade circles that the Whippet type of light motor car is the forerunner of a general trend in this direction by a number of manufacturers but it is expected that the Whippet will remain the only truly European type light car built in this country for some time to come.

That a tendency on the part of other manufacturers to lighten the weight of their cars will be evidenced in the new production seem inevitable to the better informed in the industry, but it is generally conceded that it will be some time before the other engineering departments will be in a position to thoroughly Europeanize their products.

In the meantime the usual discussions regarding a product as revolutionary as the Whippet in its field, may be expected.

Reports from Willys-Overland show that better than 18,000 of the Whippet models are already in use and that these cars are exceeding all expectations of the manufacturing company in the performance records they are establishing for owners throughout the country.

A statement from the sales department of Willys-Overland, made in anticipation of the arguments of manufacturers concerning the use of European principles of design says, "The Whippet is an Americanized version of the European type of light car which has been conceded first place in mechanical efficiency for the past several years. The Greene County Hardware Co., sells Whippets here."

BEAUTIFUL JEWETT LINE PRESENTED TO PUBLIC SATURDAY

A completely changed line of Jewetts, with beauty as their dominant characteristic, is presented today by the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, which describes them as "the second most beautiful car in America"—thus adapting the well-known Paige slogan to the smaller car as well.

Emphasis is laid upon good looks in every item of the new Jewett's ensemble. Each model carries color, trim, finish and appointments that formerly would have rated it as "de luxe", and the makers announce that they will no longer build both "standard" and "special" models of identical body types, all models now carrying full de luxe features.

A four-door sedan, a type not previously included in the line, has been added, and is regarded as the leader. The popular brougham is, of course, continued, but with changes that clearly set it apart from the former model.

Both the brougham and the four-door sedan are unusually graceful, the straight line effect of the preceding models having been eliminated entirely. The new bodies were designed expressly to achieve beauty and to be fully up to the standards that have always been attained by the costlier Paige cars in this respect. The Jewetts are chiefly striking for the consistent use of the curved line of beauty. Ball corners, rounded edges, sweeping roof and visor lines, better stream lining, and curved window outlines, in combination with lower running boards, graceful fenders and larger tires, having revolutionized the Jewett.

The new line also reveals several important mechanical improvements, chief of which is the increase in size and power of the engine and the adoption of the air cleaner as standard equipment.

Xenia Paige-Jewett Co., is local agent.

MISUSE OF LICENSE TAGS TO BE CHECKED BELDEN ANNOUNCES

It has been very noticeable that some motorists are getting careless with license tags and it has been brought to the attention of Oliver Belden, deputy commissioner of motor vehicles of Greene County that quite a few motorists are operating under one license tag. It is essential that two license plates appear, one on the front and one on the rear of every motor vehicle which is operating under Ohio license.

This is caused sometimes by a lost tag, and some times the motorists are trying to operate two vehicles under one set of tags. Belden says he has names of a few motorists who operate contrary to the law and is in hope they will make the necessary change, without having an officer call and probably make an arrest.

It has also been noticed that some motor vehicles are still bearing plates on passenger cars which are considered trucks or commercial cars. This is also a violation of the law as these cars should bear either P. C. tags or truck tags.

Some motorists have gotten the impression that tags are transferable from one party to another. This will also be investigated. The Greene County Automobile Club is sending out this warning to eliminate any arrest which might follow.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car No. 1,750,000 rolled from the assembly lines Monday, August 23, at three o'clock p. m., just eleven years, nine months and nine days after the first Dodge Brothers car was completed. During this period the plant at Detroit has expanded from a scant thirty acres of floor space to over 130 acres to which additions are constantly being made to care for increased demand.

Car No. 1,750,000, an all steel Special Sedan is the crowning achievement of nearly twelve years devoted to the constant improvement and refinement of a sound basic design. The sales which Dodge Brothers output passed important production figures show clearly the continuously accelerated demand for the product. The first car was completed November 14, 1914. Two years, lacking nineteen days, were required to build the first 100,000.

Car No. 500,000 was completed June 30, 1920; Car No. 750,000, July 21, 1922 and Car 1,000,000 on December 12, 1923. One million cars had been produced at the end of nine years and one month.

KLAN WILL GATHER AT WASHINGTON IN NATIONAL MEETING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The klans of the Ku Klux Klan are advancing on the national capital for their greatest meeting of the year, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 13, 14 and 15.

By motor and train, the members of the order are converging from many states, estimates of the probable attendance ranging from 5,000 to 100,000. The occasion is the third bi-annual "Klonvocation" of the order, and the meeting, to which state and national klans leaders have been invited, is announced as "purely of business nature."

Many thousands of klansmen, however, will attend unofficially, and a parade will be staged, which may reach the tremendous proportions of one held here at last years huge regional klans meeting here.

One of the principal items of business to be transacted is the selection of an Imperial Wizard as world leader of the order. Hiram Wesley Evans, who has held this position several years has been recommended for re-election by a recent Chicago meeting of Imperial Officer, Grand Dragons and other klans officers, and he probably will be named for the position without much opposition.

CHEVROLET ADDS TO FACILITIES; WILL INCREASE OUTPUT

Preparing facilities for manufacturing 1,000 more cars per day in 1927, the Chevrolet Motor Company is proceeding rapidly with additions to its plants and equipment in the United States.

These additions are being made under the $10,000,000 expansion program announced recently by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the company.

The addition to the huge motor plant at Flint is now well under way. New machinery for making cylinders, cam shafts and small parts is arriving daily and extensive enlargements are being made at the Flint sheet metal division. A building 206 feet long by 134 feet wide is under construction to increase production at the Toledo transmission plant. Enlargement of the heat treat department of the Bay City small parts plant will provide additional facilities there.

In Detroit the building known as General Motors Truck Company plant No. 7 has been purchased for manufacturing axles and small parts and will be merged with the gear and axle plant.

New buildings and the erection of thirty-seven forging hammers at the Detroit forge plant will make this plant one of the largest forging centers in the United States. Chevrolet factories at Cincinnati, Janesville and St. Louis will be extensively enlarged under the program. Fisher body plants at these cities are to be augmented, providing manufacturing facilities for 750,000 closed bodies and 250,000 open models. A proportionate increase in employees will follow the completion of these plant additions.

Lang Chevrolet Co., sells these cars here.

CUSTOM DESIGNED BODIES FEATURE OF STUDEBAKER AUTOS

The beauty of the custom designed sedans announced by The Studebaker Corporation of America as additions to its line is strikingly exemplified in the Six Six "Custom Brougham." Flowing lines and the graceful contour of body, swung low on the chassis, impart a suggestion of fleetness matching the spirit of Atlanta, whose silvered figure adorns the radiator.

The entire atmosphere is one of smartness and the body coloring of Kinick Green and Tuchi Gray with black moulding and delicate Apple Green striping contributes appreciably to that motif.

The interior provides all the custom luxuries which the first glance at the car suggests. Seats are wide and deep with form fitting upholstery of fine Chase mohair with broadcloth trim. Appointments include Butler finish hardwood, dome lights, toggle grips, and silken draw curtains at the wide rear windows.

Other new features make for driving ease and convenience. Instruments—speedometer, ammeter, gasoline gauge, oil pressure gauge and engine heat indicator are conveniently and artistically grouped under glass and illuminated by indirect light. The no-draft ventilating windshield which may be tilted outward by a turn of a handle is an exclusive Studebaker invention and provides abundant ventilation without draft. The two-beam headlights are controlled by a switch on the steering wheel. Spark is automatically controlled. Full vision is provided by the one-piece windshield and narrow roof pillars. A coincidental lock to ignition and steering gear is controlled by the same key which operates the locks of the doors and the spare tire carrier.

Front bumper, rear bumperettes, balloon tires, disc wheels, snubbers and four-wheel brakes, which are standard equipment, insure safety and complete freedom from road shocks.

Greene County Hardware Co., sells the Studebaker here.

WILL OPEN SECTION OF PIKE TO TRAFFIC SOON IS BELIEVED

The section of the Columbus and Cincinnati Pike, between the corporation line of Xenia and the Warren County line, which is being macadamized by the State Highway Department will be opened to traffic its entire length before winter it is believed by County Surveyor W. J. Davis.

Six miles of the road between Xenia and Spring Valley, are about ready for the surface coat of tar. Thirty days traffic over the road is necessary before the tar can be spread. The three mile section between Spring Valley and the Warren County line has not advanced quite so far as work on this section was not started as soon as that on the part nearer Xenia.

Work of paving the road through the village of Spring Valley with concrete has been commenced by Brandel Brothers of Leesburg. The N. B. Putnam Company is contractor for the section of the road between Xenia and Spring Valley and Pish and Carey are contractors for the three miles below the village. While through traffic is still detouring for the entire length of the improvement, local traffic has been using part of the road between Xenia and Spring Valley for some time.

ARE YOUR CHILDREN PHYSICALLY FIT IS DOCTOR'S QUESTION

By ANDREW P. BIDDLE, M. D. Member Gorgas Memorial Institute (Written for United Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Eighteen million and more of our boys and girls are returning to school this week. Hundreds of children, in many of our cities, will be gathered together, carrying diseased conditions inimical to themselves and dangerous to others. It will be well, therefore, for parents and teachers to give heed to the health of their charges. Especially is this true in the lower grades where children are too young to draw attention to any abnormality or to a feeling of ill being.

Inspection is particularly needed in rural districts, the villages and towns, for in the larger communities Boards of Health have staffs who daily or less frequently visit the schools and examine all children who, in the judgment of the principal, need to be looked over.

THOSE WHO ARE ILL OR A DANGER TO OTHERS ARE SENT HOME TO THE CARE OF THE FAMILY PHYSICIAN AND SUGGESTIONS ARE MADE TO HIGHER POSIBLE DELETORIOUS AFFECTIONS.

All parents must realize that no child can do justice to himself if handicapped by ill health; that many cases of illness might have been prevented, if in the early stages, the symptoms had been removed or a deformity corrected; and that the spread of a contagious disease might have been cut short if the child had been sent early by the family physician and kept at home away from the others.

For example, diseased tonsils often lead to running ears and subsequent deafness, to inflammatory rheumatism and heart disease. Bad teeth do cause serious infection of the joints. "An eye strain, which might have been easily corrected, will often cause headaches and hinder the child in studies. Measles, diphtheria and scarlet fever leave in their wake many cases of deafness, injured eyes, impairment which may cause the afflicted child to fall behind the others.

Then again, carelessness or the lack of time to give the child the proper food at breakfast, the hasty and improper lunch; the lack of supervision of the child's hours of recreation and of sleep often undermine its health and interfere with normal growth. The school child's health demands first consideration. For with health comes the desire to learn, the ambition to do well. A correction here and there may prevent further inroads. A recognition in the early stage of a communicable disease may save thousands of others from a malady which may be the cause of permanent injury. The school needs this careful supervision and has an unborn right to the protection it affords.

STAR POPULAR WITH FARMERS BECAUSE IT AIDS MARKETING

The automobile, says Fred Johnston, local Star dealer, not only enables the farmer more easily to get to his market, but in many cases brings the market to him.

Just as the motor car has enlarged the selling area of the salesman and widened the trading area of urban business centers, it is now creating new marketing outlets outside the city.

Farmers are just beginning to realize that every automobile that passes their gate houses potential buyers. As a consequence, the roadside markets that line every motor highway are rapidly increasing in number.

Many farmers market all they produce without leaving their own front yard.

A census of one hundred Maryland farmers with roadside markets revealed the fact that sixty per cent of them did no local hauling whatever, but disposed of all their crops through their market stands.

These hundred markets, last summer, sold in the aggregate, direct to consumers, approximately $267,000 worth of produce.

DISAPPEARS WITH FIANCEE'S JEWELS ON DAY OF WEDDING

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—Some girls are left waiting at the church, but Senorita Maria Laura Labore, of Buenos Aires, was left waiting at a jewelry shop. Not only that, but her fiancé, Hector Juno Nunez, got away with Maria's jewels, valued at approximately, $2,500.

Nunez had been engaged to marry Senorita Labore. The marriage received the sanction of the girl's family, the date was set, and the arrangements made at the church.

On her wedding day, Maria received a telephone call from Nunez, asking her to meet him at a jewelry shop, and to bring along her jewelry, as the groom wanted to make sure that the bride's jewels were in good condition.

Nunez received the jewels excused himself, and left the shop by a side door. Maria waited for two hours. Then she went home, for the first night in six months, Nunez did not show up. The next day, accompanied by her parents and a policeman, Maria went to Nunez's home, where she found that he had left for Rosario the day before, accompanied by his wife and three children.

Nunez was arrested in Rosario, and is awaiting trial here.

LAST DISBANDMENT OF GRAND ARMY TO BE DISCUSSED SOON

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 11.—Because of the fast thinning ranks and increasing superannuation of the heroic survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic, three of its national past commanders will serve as a committee to report on plans for the final disbandment of that old body, and the disposition of its funds and records, at the coming 60th National Encampment here Sept. 19-24, it was announced today.

The committee is composed of Ex-Governor Samuel R. Van Sant, of Minnesota, Lewis Plücher of New York, and Corp. James Tanner of the District of Columbia, all past commanders. These three old warriors have expressed their hope that the patriotic program of their auxiliary, Women's Relief Corps, may go on forever. The G. A. R. will be asked to vote on the disbandment plan as a group.

All but one of the surviving past commanders of the Grand Army, comrade Gardner of District of Columbia, are expected to be present at the coming encampment. The past commanders who are expected include: Corp. James Tanner, D. C.; Ex-Gov. S. R. Van Sant, Minn.; David J. Palmer, Ia.; Lewis S. Plücher, N. Y.; James W. Willitt, Ia.; Gaylord M. Saltzgeber, Ohio; Louis Arensburg, Penn.; John R. King, Md.; Eli Torrance, Minn.; and Wm. J. Patterson, Penn.

WOMEN PAY BECAUSE OF FEAR SAYS WOMAN

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—Most men pay their bills because they believe they ought to; most women pay their obligations because they are afraid not to.

Men do not hesitate to borrow money when they need it, but when reverses come, and they cannot pay their installments, they usually send the women to make the excuses.

These are the conclusions reached by Miss Edna M. King, manager of the Youngstown Loan Co., Youngstown, who is to have an active part in the convention of the American Industrial Lenders Association in Cleveland, September 15-17. "However," said Miss King, "the vast majority of people are honest. Sometimes we do not think so, but investigation has shown that when they do not pay, it is because of some circumstance."

Superior Performance Results from Superior Manufacturing

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assembly—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80".

And the army is curious to know what sort of man will be chosen. These are the possibilities: Maj. Gen. C. P. Summerall, senior ranking officer, a "hard boiled" disciplinarian; Maj. Gen. ARMS AND THE BACK Tunney Lacks Punching Power of Jack; Has He Enough?

These closeups show the main punching machinery of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champ, and Gene Tunney, challenger, booked to fight Jack Sept. 23. Dempsey's right, which has started his opponents to their doom, is stronger in build than Tunney's. Dempsey has the more powerful back muscles, with which to drive his blows home. These facts and the work of the men to date give Dempsey the edge in hitting power.

Reds Split Two And Get Nowhere

The Reds dropped into third place Friday, remained two hours, and then back into their old position of second place, all due to splitting a twin bill with the desperate Pirates at Pittsburgh.

Eppa Rixey pitched able ball until the eighth frame when the Bucs fell on his ambitious curves for three runs, breaking a tie and sailing away the ball game. In the meantime Krenner held the Reds in subjection and the victory enabled the McKeehle crew to pass Cincinnati.

In the second game, however, Red Lucas, starting his first game in many days, hampered the Pirates with four hits while his mates amassed ten off Morris, Yde, Aldridge and Sonner, enabling the Hendricks crowd to wit 5 to 2. The performance of Lucas was an inspiration and the source of much joy to Red fans.

Lucas joined the club last spring and his consistent victories in early season games convinced everyone he was a find. The sorrel top

HERMAN WILL FACE HARRIS IN CITY SERIES CONTEST SUNDAY

Although three games have been played in the series for the city championship between the Xenia Reserves and Merchants, the team will meet Sunday in the fourth game exactly in the same place they were before the series opened.

Furthermore Sunday's game will go down in the books as the third game instead of the fourth, as the teams were tied when rain descended last Sunday, ending the pastime after four and one-half innings of play.

Merchants took the series opener and then dropped the second contest to the Reserves, evening the count. With each team holding a game, one will be bound to assume an edge after Sunday's contest unless another tie should result. Promise of good weather indicates the teams will be able to play to a finish Sunday, dispelling possibilities of a knotted count.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Built as the greatest monument to tennis and a testimonial of the tremendous growth of interest in the game, the big stadium of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills has turned into a white elephant and a serious problem.

After the women's national championship and the final round of the Davis Cup eliminations had been played, a member of the club and formerly one of the most influential officials of the tennis association, asked a newspaperman: "What are we going to do with this thing?" pointing at the stadium.

"Hold fights in it!" he was told. "That's about the only other use we could make of it and we can't do that—at least not until the situation gets desperate," he said. "The acoustics are so bad it can't be used for concerts or outdoor dramatics and it is not built for any other sport."

"Here we have a $250,000 investment that is being used only about twenty-three days a year and for the remainder of the time just sits here eating up interest and suffering from the effects of the

GEORGIA AND VANDERBILT SEEM TO HAVE PIGSKIN EDGE IN SOUTH

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—With the opening of the 1926 football season just around the corner Georgia and Vanderbilt seem to most observers to have the edge on other teams in the Southern Conference.

The University of Georgia will return more lettermen from the 1925 team than any other team in the Conference race, with nineteen veterans of last year's team. The squad is being handled by Head Coach "Kid" Woodruff, Jimmy Crowler, one of the famous Georgia horsemen at Notre Dame two years ago, Harry Mehre, another Notre Dame player on the varsity coaching staff, and Coach Stanley, head freshman coach and W. D. (Bill) White, assistant coach for freshman team.

With one of the heaviest teams

in the history of the institution, with an interesting schedule and with Coach Dan McGugin assisted by three of his former "stars" Josh Cody, Hek Wakefield and Lewis Hardage, it looks like a big year for the Vanderbilt eleven. Vanderbilt has lost but three of their men from last year's line-up.

Alabama, last year's champion, will be minus the service of "Pooley" Hubert, fleet footed half back who was largely responsible for the title being brought back to Alabama. Grant Gillis, another star of the Crimson Tide last year, now is playing professional baseball with Birmingham in the Southern League. However Coach Wallace Wade expects to make it three in a row this year, a feat no team has yet accomplished in the Southern Conference.

Georgia Tech will enter the field this year also a strong contender for the conference title. With more than seventy-six men on hand W. A. Alexander head coach at Tech, is confident of whipping into shape a team that will bear watching.

Douglas Wyckoff, last year's captain of the Golden Tornado and who has been touted as the greatest full back who ever darned a jersey at Tech, graduated last spring. Owen Poole, star center on the Tech line, will lead the Yellow Jackets into action this year.

For the first time in the history of the institution, Georgia Tech will have a velvet gridiron choked with Bermuda grass. Since early this summer Coach Alexander has been supervising the work on the gridiron. The new field will insure fans of a faster game.

Tulane during last year's race established a reputation that has placed them in the position of a champion defending his title. Harry Gamble, captain and "Doc" Wilson will not be disturbed at the end.

This pair along with "Hoos" Talbot, tackle, were the main factors in Tulane's line last year.

Tulane has replaced the University of Florida on the Georgia Tech schedule and will play the Golden Tornado on October 9.

With the loss of several men from the 1925 lineup Florida will not furnish so strong a team this year as in the past, according to several critics.

ORGANIZED BOXING FUTURE IDEAL SAYS FARRELL IN STORY

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—"Why is it," a correspondent asks, "that a boxing champion can get away with anything? A baseball team, a tennis player, a golf player and track and field athletes have to defend their title every year or give it up. Why shouldn't a boxing champion do it?"

Boxers should do it and they are violating the rules and regulations of the New York boxing commission when they do not accept the challenger of a recognized challenger at the end of every six months.

They don't do it, however, because they can't be forced to do it and they can't be forced against their will because boxing is not organized as well as other amateur and professional sports.

Amateur boxing is well regulated and no national champion can hold a title without a commission. He has to defend his championship once each year in the national championships or give up the title.

Golf, tennis and athletics are perfectly organized because the United States Golf Association, the United States Lawn Tennis Association and the Amateur Athletic Union not only control their sports all over the United States but because they are affiliated with international organizations which respect the majority vote of their organizations.

Boxing never will be so perfectly organized because the men associated with the game are not of the type that lend themselves to organization or to supervision.

The lack of co-operation among state boxing commissions which is the only present form of supervision, was shown in the controversy about the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship fight. The New York commission said that Dempsey and Tunney couldn't fight in New York, and the Pennsylvania commission said, in words to the effect—"Come down to Philadelphia and fight."

This case is being used merely as a recent example and it may not be pertinent as the New York license committee may have overstepped its authority or may have been guilty of stubborn vindictiveness or politics.

To be successful as an organized sport, any sport must be properly organized and wisely administered. Boxing can never be organized until there are a standard set of rules. As long as there are different rules in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, California, Wisconsin and other big centers, the game can be administered only according to the rules and the champion can pick the state where the rules are most to his liking.

Under the existing circumstances, rules cannot be enforced because there is no penalty that can be enforced for a violation. No law can be enforced unless something more than a conscience

DELANEY WILL SPAR IN TUNNEY CAMP

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 11.—The scarcity of sparring partners for Gene Tunney, challenger of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, was to be relieved today by the arrival of Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul heavyweight and the ex-marine hopes to get in a good workout before night.

Actual boxing, however, was to be reduced from six to four rounds. Golf and a run over the hills was to complete his program.

Gene has found a refuge from the crowds at the estate of George Ransberry, a retired chef. He goes there to read.

DEMPSEY SEEKING SECOND FOR FIGHT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11.—Jack Dempsey is seeking to engage one of Tunney's best friends for a second on the night he meets Tunney for the heavyweight championship, it is reported at his camp here.

A visit here of Frank Bagley, of New York, who piloted Tunney to the light heavyweight championship, gave rise to the report. The two were to confer again today.

Bagley is a capable handler of boxers.

Dempsey was four pounds heavier when he resumed training yesterday after three days lay off.
